. . . One tree, by being deeply wounded,
Has been impressed as Witness Tree—
and made commit to memory
My proof of being not unbounded.
Thus truth's established and borne out,
Through circumstanced with dark and doubt—
Though by a world of doubt surrounded.

A kaleidoscope of scenes woven together by orangey words—maybe green—spin like falling leaves to float on a stream of time.
Branches twist across and through each day, pausing only long enough to capture each moment for their own.
Carved on the spotted, peeling trunk are semblances of you,
when time found you unshielded and unaware.

—Ferraro

you shall above all things be glad and young. For if you're young whatever life you wear it will become you and if you are glad whatever's living will yourself become to be nobody but myself in a world which is doing its best night and day

to make you everybody else

ANYONE?

no man,
for any considerable period,
can wear one face to himself, and another to the multitude,
without finally getting bewildered as to which may be the true.

Beauty is relative to the occasion. Smiles are always beautiful.
Please have an occasion. They're on the house.

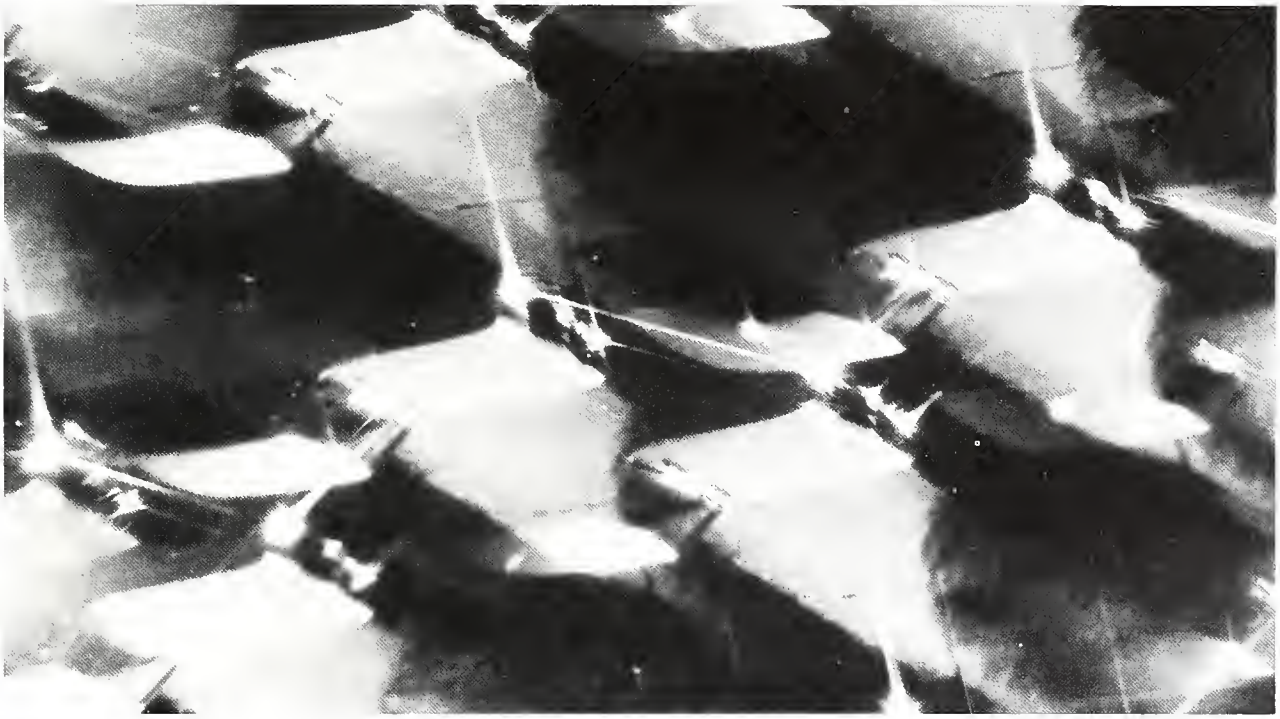
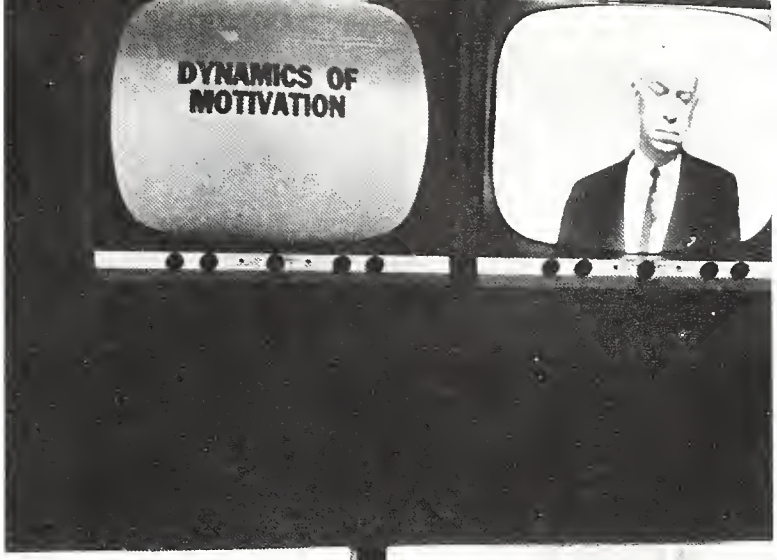
The art of progress is to preserve order amid change and to preserve change amid order.
Alfred North Whitehead, 1861-1947

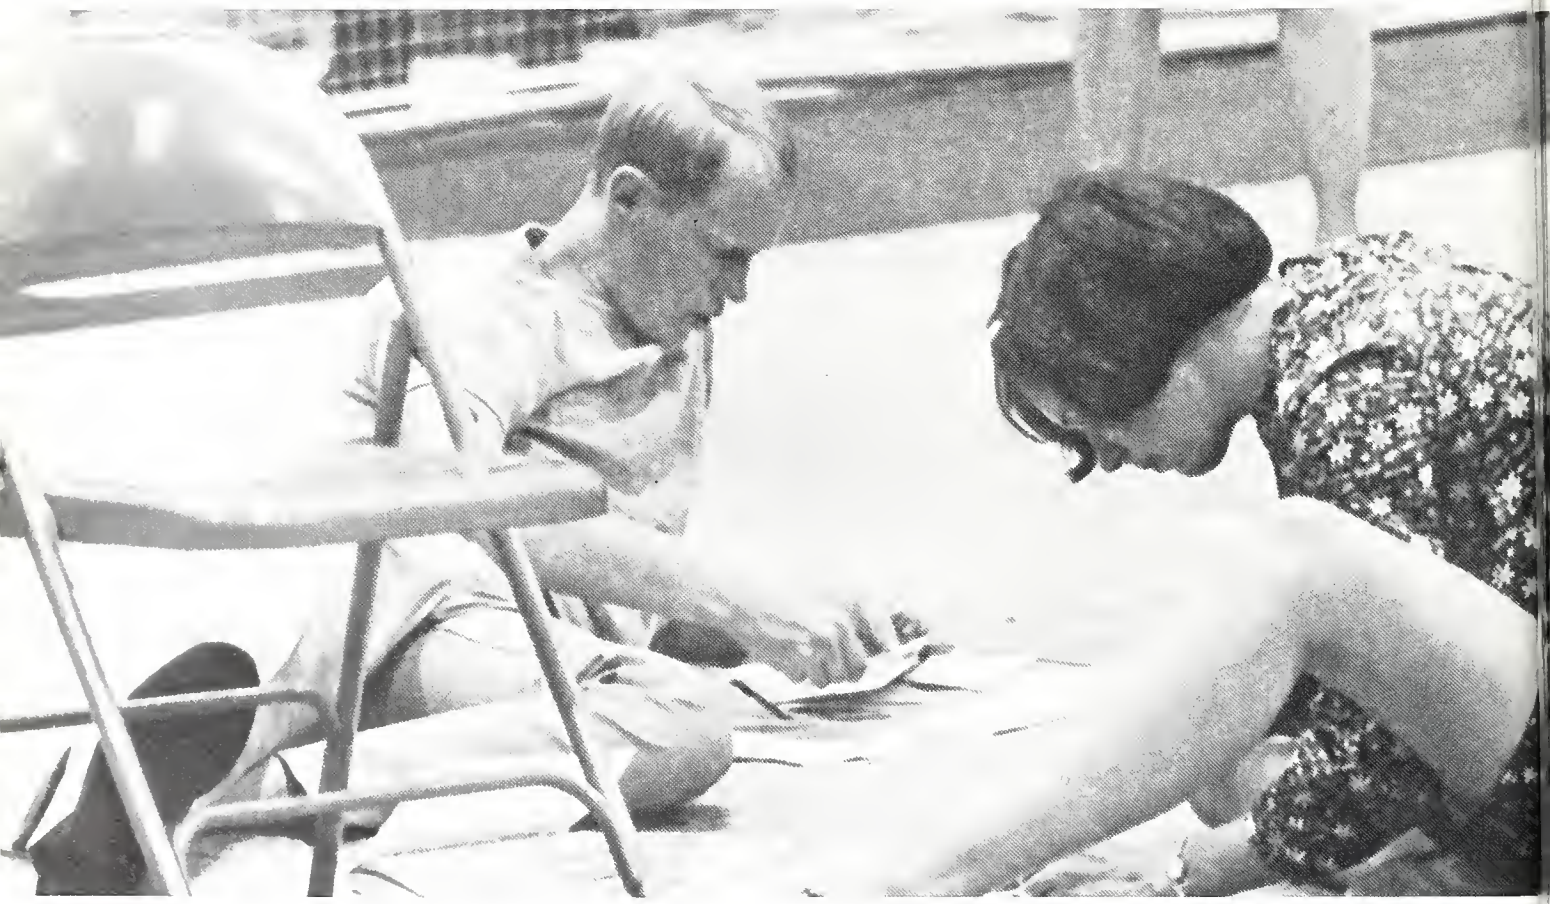




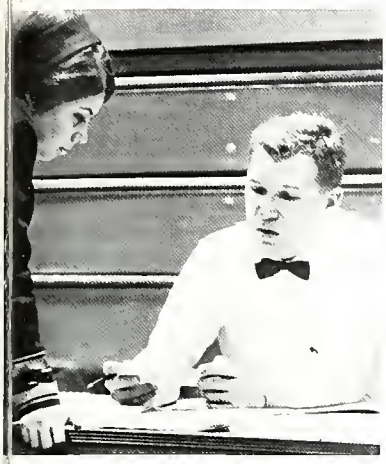
Perhaps the only goal on earth toward which mankind is striving lies in the process of attaining, in other words, in life itself, and not in the thing to be attained.

Fyodar Dostoievski, Notes From Underground, 1864

Activities



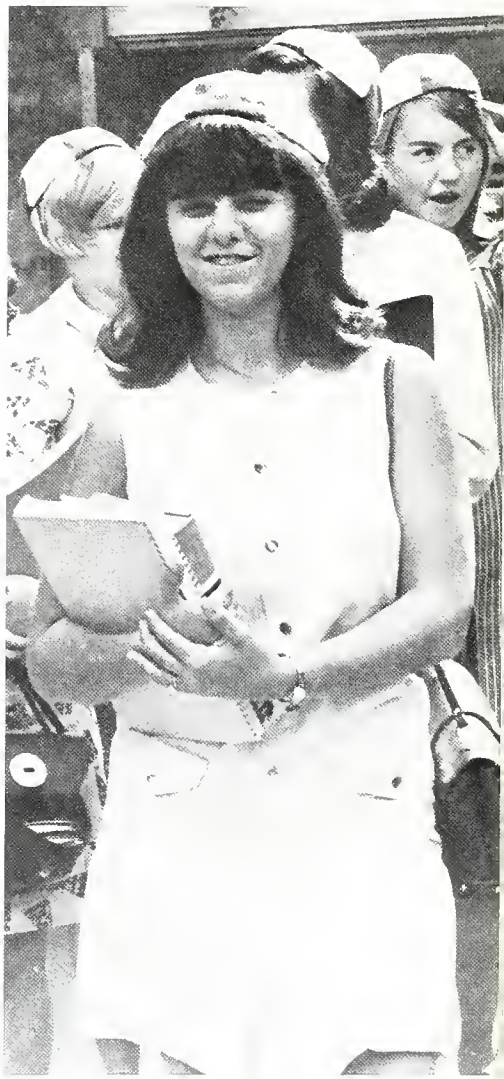
In the fall the freshmen came, eager but wary of college life. Some were hesitant and uncertain, others haughty and confident. But all felt anticipation as they unwound from a hectic REGISTRATION and flocked to the open houses, the dipper, the Grill, and the astroturf dedication. Here they met the upperclassmen and envied the security of the reunited cliques. They latched onto new friends, found first dates, and discovered the freedom of being on their own.



Students sought assistance in scheduling conflicting classes.

It took patience and coordination to move into the dorm.

Greeks scooped ice cream on themselves as well as in the cones as they treated freshmen at the annual fall dipper.



Beanies, dense at first, disappeared when restrictions were not enforced.

Miss Eldred enjoyed an evening away from her office.

ISU's southern belles charmed guests with warm hospitality.

President and Mrs. Rankin with distinguished students greeted guests at the first President's Ball.

Union Board continued to expand their activity program as they sponsored the PRESIDENT'S BALL in September. The dance, honoring President and Mrs. Rankin, was warm with a Southern atmosphere as fountains flowed and gracious "southern" beauties moved among the blossoming magnolias. A first for the university, the formal affair impressively recognized the Rankins.

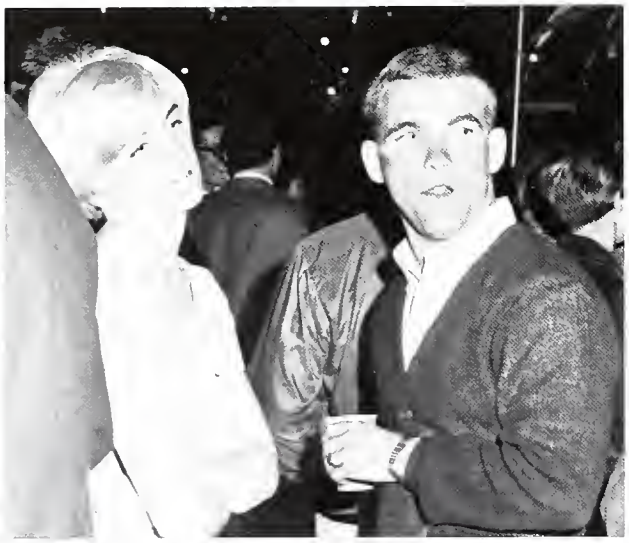
Cheryl Moore received a smiling gent beneath the magnolia arch.

Students prepared many enticing drinks for the festive event.

Smiling faces exemplified the spirit at the first formal event.

Zeta Tau Alpha's barber shop captured third place.

CAMPUS CARNIVAL proved sticky as traces of caramel apples and cotton candy mixed with balloon-shaving cream and whipped pies. Hours of booth constructing and pennant streaming transformed the quad into a brilliant midway bustling with soliciting cronies and rosy-cheeked clowns. Crowds pushed through lines to chance the winning of a brag button or bar-girl garter. After the gay blend of minstrel and rock music was stilled, memories lingered on as bulletin boards and fish bowls displayed colorful keepsakes of the first big Union Board-sponsored event of the year.



A committee member conferred with chairman Kay Schultz.

Fish were the prize at third place Kappa Sigma booth.

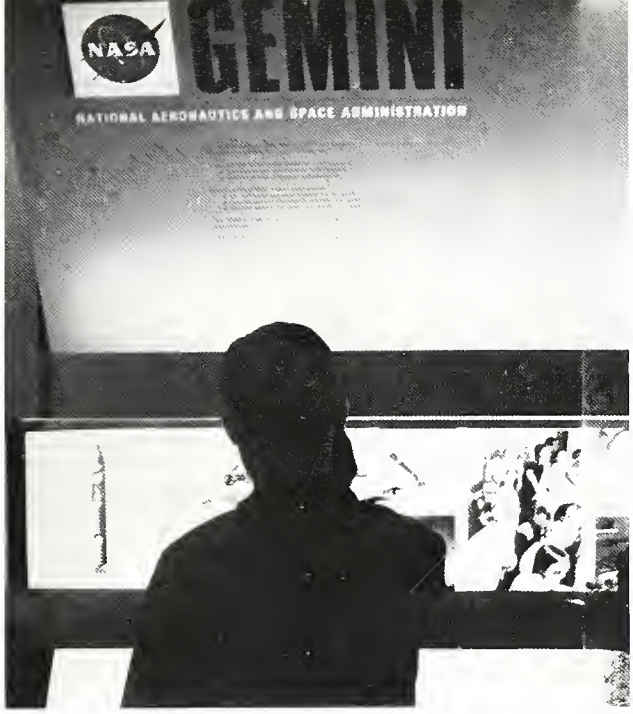
Theta Chi's electric train helped catch second place.

Alpha Zi Deltas rounded up prisoners and first place.

Construction chaos emerged as girls wielded hammers and saws.

Alumnae returned to a growing campus strewn with ultra-modern exhibits depicting what was to come in the "Twenty-first Century." To them, the campus had changed immensely in the years since they had left. They wondered at the partially-completed 16-story dormitories and took deep pride in the face-lifting of Memorial Stadium with the new Astroturf. They looked back at their college years and appreciated the work that had culminated in futuristic displays and floats. They had not been on campus for the preparation, the coronation, or the huge bonfire, but they met the queen and applauded Al Hirt at the first Sycamore Showcase. They caught up on progress at alumnae banquets and the victorious game. To alumnae, the tendency was to reminisce; but to all, HOMECOMING emphasised the days ahead.

Queen Judy Whitaker clutched regal roses beneath ISU seal.



NASA provided industrial displays for viewing by students and faculty.

Sycamore Showcase featured trumpeter Al Hirt.

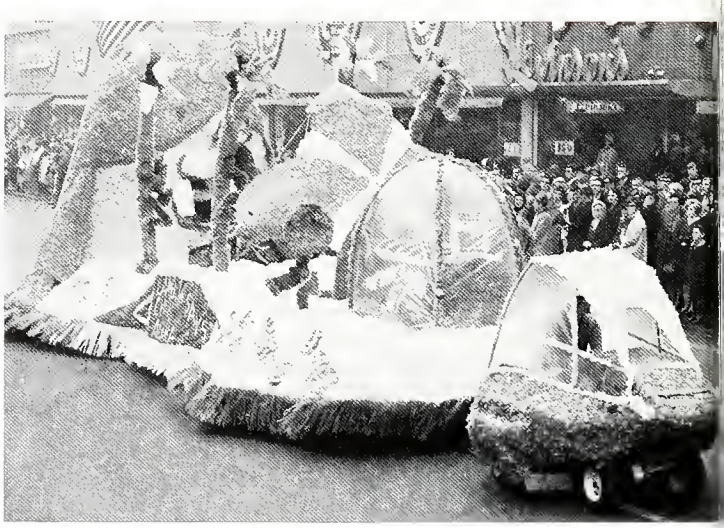
Torchlights set the blaze of the bonfire, illuminating ISU sign.

Hine's opened it's second year with first in general division.

ATO's float came and conquered all other floats for sweepstakes.

Chi O's timed their way to victory in the sorority division.

A spectrum of colors were on display outside Memorial Stadium.



Lambda Chi's swayed the judges as they won the fraternity division.

Blumberg and Cramwell totaled talents for a victorious computer.

Claudy skies failed to dim Saturday's parade as multi-colored floats modernizing everything from telephones to tunnels called a lass for Valparaiso and brightened Wabash Avenue. Alpha Tau Omega won the sweepstakes trophy with Lambda Chi's, Sig Ep's, and Theta Chi's placing respectively in the fraternity division. Chi Omega's, Zeta's, and Gamma Phi's captured the sorority prizes. Hines Hall placed first in the general division, and Eta Sigma Pi was second. Blumberg and Cramwell presented an eye-catching computer for first in display awards, while Pickerl and Sandison came in second and third.

Queen Judy Whitaker and her court appeased their admirers with smiles and waves.

President Ronkin inaugurated a long weekend of Homecoming festivities before the burning bonfire.

Homecoming Steering Committee: Front Row—J. Ryborozyk, S. Miles and D. Shockley (co-choirmen), N. Orrill. Back Row—M. Fread, C. Moore, B. Brist, M. Culver, B. Felts, K. Schultz.

Homecoming Queen Candidates: Left Row (bottom to top)—J. Williamson, D. Lowe, I. Wadsworth, J. Firmoni, D. Norris, A. Worren. Center Row—A. Cosper, T. Ulrich. Right Row (bottom to top)—B. Meister, J. Thornburg, J. Ribo, L. Cook, J. Whitaker, S. Thomas.

Judy Whitaker, representing Pickerl Hall, was chasen by male students as Homecoming Queen after judging narrawed the field af campetitian ta five. At the bonfire and game, caranatian, and Blue and White farmal dance, the fourteen contestants were an attractive camplement ta all 1967 Hamecaming activities.

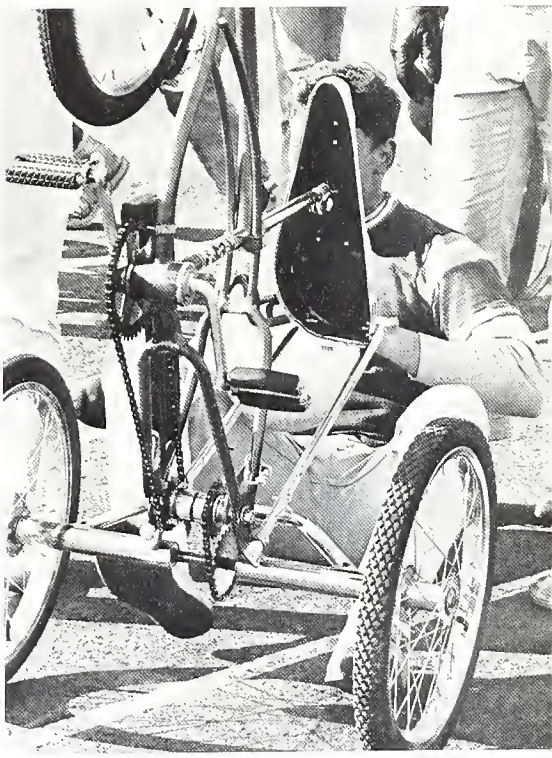
Trikes 16 and 6 battled neck and neck down the back stretch.

The queen's trophy was presented at the Blue and White Dance.

After a Saturday night of post-game dances and parties, everyone turned to the track to witness or take part in the Cycle-Delic Derby, postponed from Friday due to rain. New trikes were bigger, better-equipped, and standardized; girls even had to wear long pants and helmets for safety. Lambda Chi's, with Cromwell and ATO's trailing, sped to the finish line first. Girls of Blumberg lapped the oval fastest, with Mills and Erickson close behind.

The exercise was exhausting, and students looked reluctantly ahead to a week crammed with catching up on studies and sleep. Alumnae, regretting the brevity of their visit, turned homeward, back to the routine days of the present.

The afternoon was bright as the crowd urged ISU to a 47-12 victory over Valpo.



A driver tipped over as he skid to a stop.

Koppa Sig's won participation prize.

Fraternity men climbed the greased pole for a sorority garter.

Good-natured rivalry was an important part of Greek life. Throughout GREEK WEEK, Greek members enlivened the campus as they scrambled across the Quad pursuing arm bands or resisting attack. But behind the games, the dinners, and the services lay the intention of promoting Greek ideals of friendship, leadership, scholarship, character, and service.

Co-chairmen Karla Hawkins and Jerry Lucas emceed torchlight ceremonies.

Theta Chi's and Zeta's rushed to victory in the Greek games.

Sorority women dashed after fraternity men for Greek arm bands.

Fraternity men were hosts at a round of trade dinners and desserts.

Cheryl Moore, Greek Goddess, was crowned by Jerry Lucas.

Judge Shake encouraged a Greek audience to meet its challenge.

Members of the 17 social fraternities and sororities on campus were moved as banquet speaker Judge Curtis Shake urgently proclaimed that "their first obligation was to their country and God, their second to the university, and their last to their own fraternity."
With nostalgia and renewed confidence in the importance of Greek life, GREEK WEEK ended with the singing of the Alma Mater and a feeling of pride in the brotherhood expressed among all the groups.

Phi Delts held a smoker to meet men interested in pledging their new fraternity.

Panhellenic treated Tri Delt alumnae and rushees to a tea.

The informality of men's RUSH contrasted sharply with that of the women's with their strict contact rules, but the intention was the same— to increase membership by taking those whose standards and goals exemplified their own and who would effectively carry on the work of the chapter. The Greek system was expanded as Phi Delta local fraternity formed with the aim of petitioning Phi Delta Theta for membership next year. Delta Delta Delta colonized as ISU's tenth national sorority.

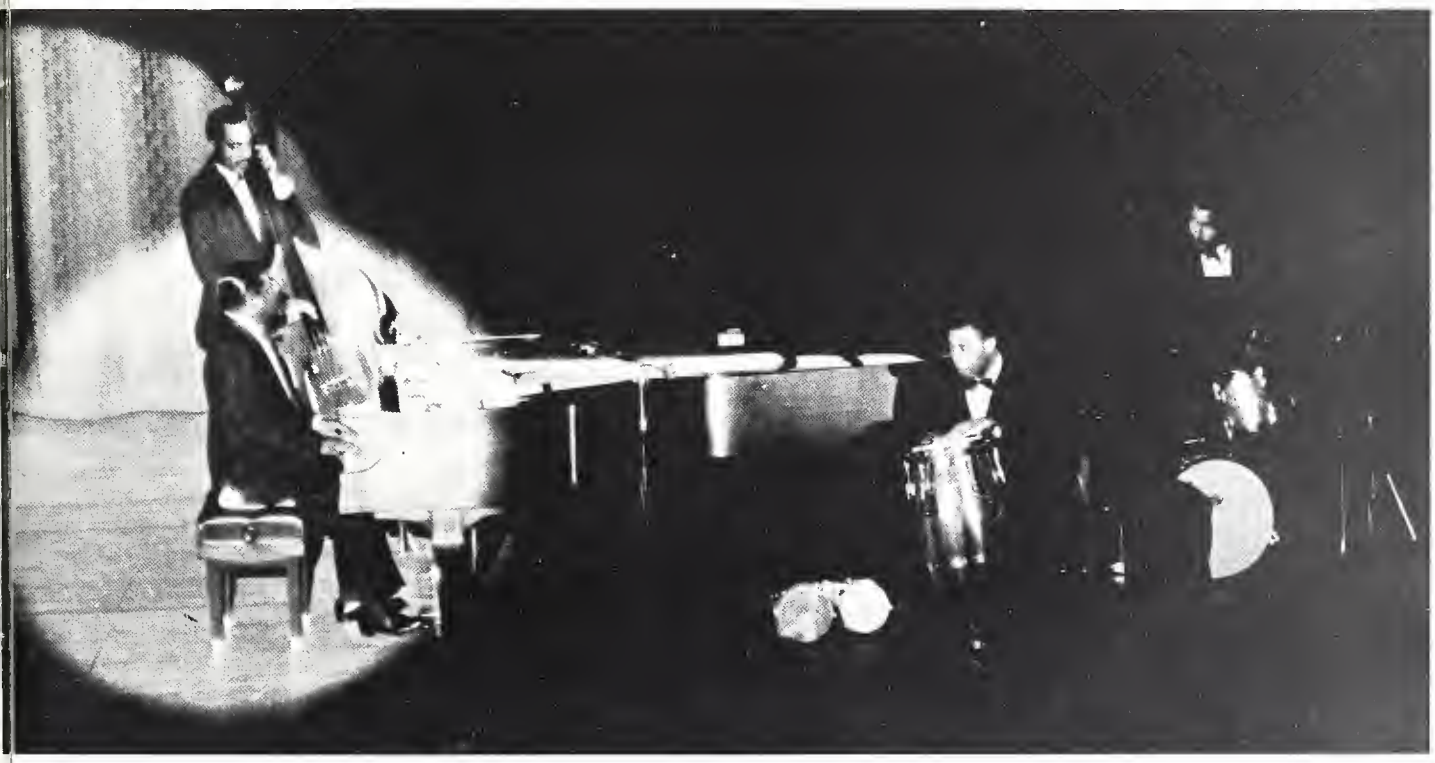
Victor Thorley effectively depicted Whitman as the people's poet.

Rehabilitated Bill Sands lectured on prison reform.

"The Greasepaint" incorporated brilliantly-imagined songs and dances into a unified play.

Extended services brought to campus a variety of entertainment in the form of CONVOCATIONS. Educational as well as enjoyable, the affairs were usually held on weekday evenings in Tilson Music Hall. The featured star always received a warm reception by students who appreciated the top-name presentations at ISU.

"A Whitman Portrait" involved the 'American poet's' family.



Erroll Garner, jazz pianist, enthralled his audience with spontaneous mood music.

From a field of contestants from all over Indiana, ISU's Janice Cruse was crowned 1967 500 FESTIVAL QUEEN. With glittering crown and a regal smile, she was a shining representative of the university as she reigned over pre-race activities and presented the trophy to the renowned winner. A Terre Haute junior, Janice was the first ISU coed to take a royal part in the world-famous Indianapolis race.

Track owner Anton Hulman converses with Queen Janice.

Janice Cruse bestowed rewards upon victor A.J. Foyt.

Spotlights brightened the runway as Janice was named Queen.

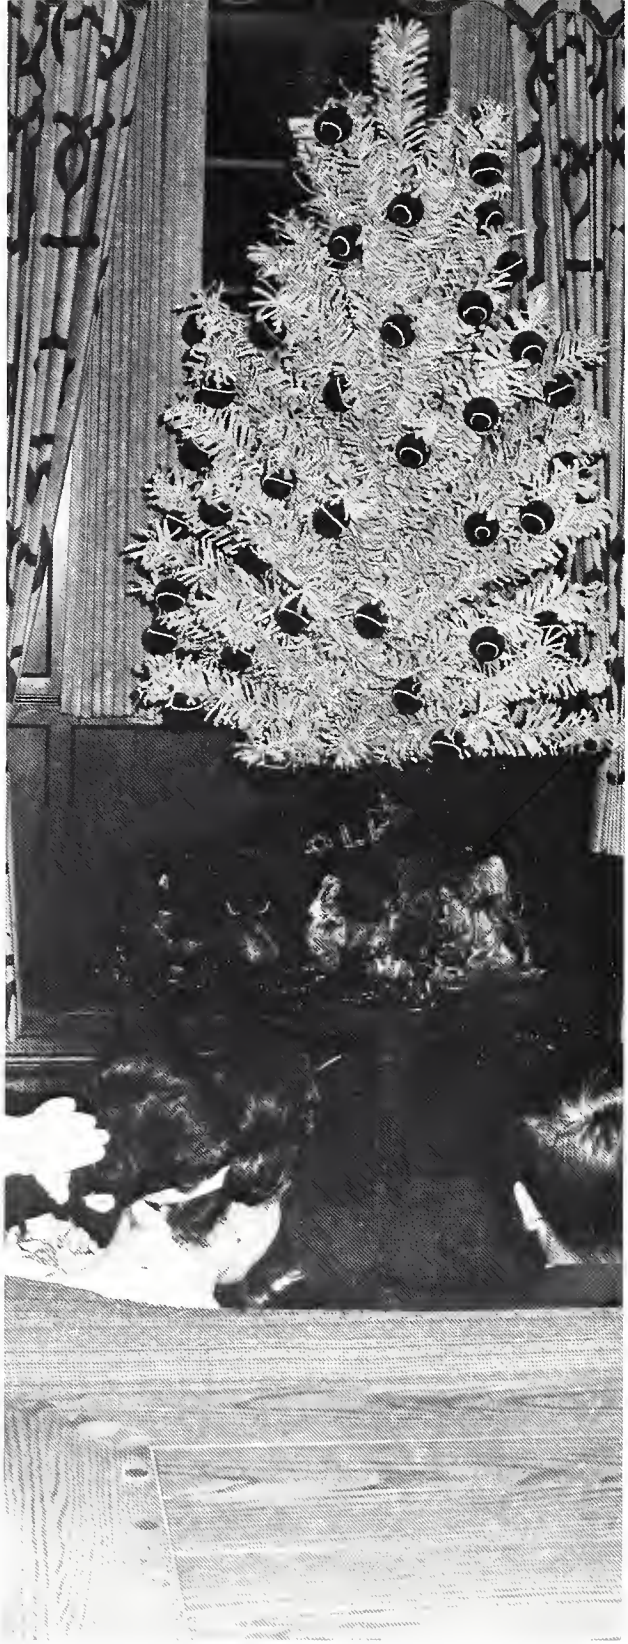
Dan Brack ignited the audience with his fire-eating stunt.

Rosy-cheeked coeds mocked Shirley Temple's senatorial campaign.

ISU SHOWBOAT brought a ship full of student talent to Tilson Music Hall. New this year, the talent show was a collage of vocalists and musicians, dancers and comediennes. A chorus line of girls from each dorm and sorority provided the kick-off for another new Union Board event.

Folksingers created sounds and a mood with echoing vibrations.

President Rankin smiled as his wife thanked Santa for a package.



Crib scenes and trees decorated the TMUB during the yuletide.

CHRISTMAS came early to ISU as classes were dismissed over a week before the holiday. But the season's spirit rang out as the chimes played yuletide carols and dormitory doors were transformed into gaily-wrapped Christmas packages. It was hard to concentrate on homework as downtown stores offered shopping treasures and mail called for Christmas card addressing. And so students relaxed to Johnny Mathis albums and attended Christmas festivities with their minds on home and the two weeks of vacation ahead.

Seasonal songs spiced the medieval atmosphere of Madrigal Feast.

A crackling fire added warmth to a perfect Christmas Ball.

Mustaches decked the walls, setting a roaring Twenties scene.

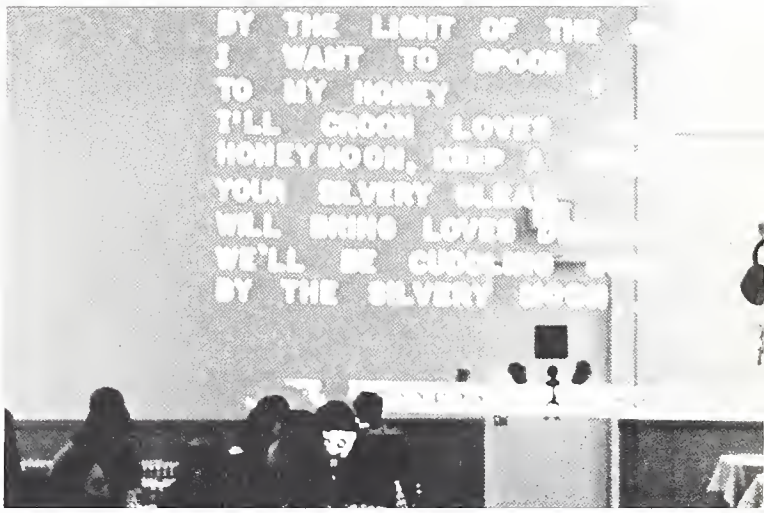
Straight from the speak-easy and into the East Ballroom came the roar of the 1920's as the Union Board brought YOUR FATHER'S MUSTACHE to campus.
Swinging through the doors, guests were seated at long tables decked with red and white checks as student waiters sporting straw sailor hats and striped vests served near beer and roasted peanuts.
Silent movies were part of the fun, and everyone joined in when songs from the golden past were flashed on the wall. Amidst the banjo strumming and informality of the famous band, a good, old-fashioned time was enjoyed by all.

The era of bootlegging was relived at Your Father's Mustache.

The crowd clapped to the gay tunes of a Dixie Land band.

Near beer was on the menu for State's students and their dates.

Mustaches adorned the faces of everyone who attended the event.



Lights dimmed, lyrics flashed on the wall, and the crowd joined in.

CRYSTAL BALL held the romance of King Arthur's court as a Crystal Palace was created by sorority women under the direction of Diane Kruse.
New pledges made their social debut to Panhellenic life and treated escorts royally to a punch hour in their suites and to the Ball itself.
The queens of the evening were the Ideal Sorority Women, each chosen by her sorority as the woman best exemplifying their standards. Presented with silver charms, they reigned proudly as their sisters serenaded them with treasured sorority songs.

Nine individual sorority flags formed a royal entrance arch.

A formal openhouse in the sorority suites preceeded the dance.

Sorority women served punch from behind a minature golden palace.

The crowd mingled in the Formal Lounge as they passed between ballrooms.

IDEAL SORORITY WOMEN: Top to Bottom—Patti Light, $\alpha o \pi$; Karla Hawkins, $\alpha \phi$; M. Davis, $\alpha \Sigma \alpha$; Pam Burroughs, $\alpha \Xi \Delta$; Karen Gibbs, $\chi \Omega$; Sandy Baswarth, $\Delta \Gamma$; Mary Ann Fischer, $\Gamma \phi \beta$; Lou Anna Kimsey, ΣK; Melva Carter, ZTA.

"Amphithyron 38" summer reheorsals took most of the cast's time.

Jupiter left the clouds to frolic with Amphithyron's wife.

A new salesgirl wos o hit in "She Loves Me."

The Giroudoux comedy "Amphithyron 38" opened the Sycomore Theatre seoson. The plot of the French play revolved oround the ontics of the ancient Greek gods of Mount Olympus. Sue Goss and Dovid Cole led the cost os the Queen ond King of the Gods. Along with members of the cost, they represented the SYCAMORE PLAYERS in their Greek costumes in the Homecoming parode. Shokespeore's "Henry IV Part One" gove o note of dromo to the seoson's billing. William Munns directed the show, which went on tour to several high schools ofter its ISU run.

A floundering jester informed the queen of Amphithyron's arrival.

Caralers clustered around a unique revolving set in the musical play, "She Loves Me."

"She Loves Me," an off-Broadway musical comedy, opened after semester break. The only musical of the season, it offered audiences a refreshing change of pace. Student talent from both the music and theatre departments was displayed. Working diligently over semester break rehearsing for the performances, at times the cast even helped hammer and paint sets. Danny Weber, music major, and Ginger Letsinger, theatre major, played the leads. Like all student productions, the show offered students an opportunity to participate in various aspects of production.

A buxom lass flirtatiously teased a lover in "Henry IV."

A laughing inn-keeper joked with his customers in "Henry IV."

Though not quite as romantic as an evening on the Riviera, TOP HAT CLUB presented a diverting glimpse into nightclub glamour. Mini-skirted waitresses delivered mock whiskey sours and grasshoppers to couples resting from the hectic beat of the band. In a smoky Casino, visored dealers with alluring assistants played their games with deft hands and cool looks. Lady Luck was kind as she left smiles on all who wagered on an evening of excitement.

Casino Royale set the mood for an exciting evening at Top Hat Club.

Card sharks and amateurs teamed up to outwit snappy dealers.

Winning ten chips entitled this chic coed to a drink.

Drinking and dancing enticed the nightclub setting.

All eyes focused upon the fate-ridden dice.

Gamblers and observers gathered around the roulette wheel to see their fortune.

TKE's, Zeta's, and Sigma Kappa's performance, "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," walked away with honors winning first place, stage movement, costume, talent, and sets awards.

Black lights and battans, spot lights and booms were all part of the terminology of show business and CAMPUS REVUE. Smiles on the surface hid the nervous anticipation on performers as they waited for the curtain to rise and the music to begin for their 15 minute act. Working together for the first time, fraternities and sororities combined efforts to stage the seven-act variety show. Kappa Sigma's provided entertainment between acts while new Tri Delt pledges ushered the audience into Tilson.

Sunny AOPi's and Theta Chi's won the music award.

Even during a Kappa Sig commercial, policemen gave tickets.

Stage movement and lighting awards were won by Alpha Phi's, Alpha Xi's, and Pi Lam's for "Round and Round."

"Fantasy in A Dream" won Lambda Chi's and Alpha Sig's third place, sets, and lighting awards.

ATO's and DG's Last Hope Show won second place and music award.

Giving Greeks a chance to improve relations and develop talent potential, CAMPUS REVUE also gave the production staff, directors, and technical crew a valuable knowledge of back-stage operations. Working toward a better show, minor awards covering many aspects of production plus individual talent awards were presented Friday night, leaving Saturday night open for major awards. The traditional flooding of the aisles exemplified the Greek spirit as groups cheered their directors onto the stage and proclaimed the 35th annual Revue a success.

Leap Year found Chi O's after Sigma Pi's to win Vern Dyer Award.

Dialogue, costumes, and people's choice went to "Love and Gloria Jean" presented by the Gamma Phi's and Sig Ep's.

DIRECTORS: Front Row—D. Elder, P. Houts, S. Neely, G. Hahn, G. Felling, S. Simmons, J. Ryborczyk, K. Heilman, M. Woodsmall. Back Row—M Thompson, R. Allen, T. Bozell, G. Poland, D. Holmes, J. Vrabel, D. Ross.

The second annual MASTERS DAY program sponsored by the Indiana State Alumni Association and Student Government Association brought to campus two outstanding educators. Dr. William Anthis, principal of North Side High School of Ft. Wayne, spoke in seminars on the realm of education and on student teaching. Mr. Robert Carr, director of Music Education in Indiana, discussed music and its role in the schools.

Carr talked with Erickson residents after dinner in the dorm.

The President and faculty greeted Dr. Anthis during his visit.

Students posed questions to the alums during informal discussions on campus.

Alert Kathy Nickell displayed plaque won as outstanding player.

QUIZ BOWL took on professional tones as 21 campus organizations took part in the four evenings of eliminations. Beverly Burton planned the event which showed academic talent witnessed as quick recall of a variety of information. Blumberg Hall proved victorious as this year's outstanding player Kathy Nickell monopolized the four-girl team and defeated Theta Chi fraternity.

Blumberg's intelligent team defeated four groups before emerging Quiz Bowl victors.

Charm in modeling helped Tee Thole win swimsuit competition.

Miss ISU and attendants: Seated—E. Thole (fourth), Amy Taylor (third). Standing—S. Heathco (second), Queen Jan Faires, D. Lowe (first).

Pre-pageant judging narrowed contestants to ten. Front Row—E. Thale, M. A. Davies, D. Lowe. Second Row—M. Sims, A. Taylor, J. Faires. Back Row—M. Skalba, S. Heathco, S. Simmons, L. Baumunk.

Amy Taylor sang and made her own sets to win the talent prize.

Beginning with a lively song and dance routine by the ten finalist, the MISS ISU pageant grew continuously complicated as periodic judgings eliminated and rewarded contestants. Nervous but hopeful, they hid their emotions behind constant smiles as they performed and modeled on the runway. Annette Dunham and Diane Maxwell eased tensions as they emceed with John Coleman. When awards had been made and royalty crowned, relief stimulated true happiness.

The ten finalists chose Mary Sims as Miss Congeniality.

Sparkling and poised, sophomore Jan Faires accepted the velvet red roses, sparkling wand, and gleaming trophy of MISS INDIANA STATE UNIVERSITY. With glittering crown she began a reign of personal appearances and prepared for the Miss Indiana contest. There, during three days of judging, she won the swimsuit contest competition. On the final night, amidst screams and tears of close friends and family, she was named second runner-up to Miss Indiana, 1967.

Radiant with the newness of her title, Jan met her admirers.

Arms full and face aglow, Jan Faires beamed as Miss ISU, 1967.

Junior Prom queen candidates: Front Row—A. Dunham, B. Wilson, P. Shown, M.K. Kovach. Back Row—J. Wise, P. Cushman, J. Blickenstaff, E. Neuman, M. Davidson, S. Senior, L. Lanz, M. Smith, R. Phillips, D. Shackley.

Junior class members created an illusion of metropolitan night life for JUNIOR PROM. During an evening of dancing beneath a New York City skyline, prom queen candidates were presented. Sandy Senior was selected queen of "Manhattan Midnight" and crowned by Tom Bazell, class president.

Escorts chose prom queen Sandy Senior.

Jr. Prom Queen's Court: M. Davidson, A. Dunham, L. Lanz, R. Phillips.

Betsy Frye and Morris Wooden directed Club Bamboo.

Cluttering the campus with bold, cleverly-cliched banners and colorful handbills, candidates for bachelor of the year wore smiles and badges as they campaigned. Clucking chickens and burly dogs escorted their favorites around as they passed out candy and garters to prospective voters. Girls cast ballots for their ideal man on Friday, and the presentation of ATO Rude Inman came at CLUB BAMBOO after all candidates had learned to hula with legs exposed and leis swinging. Lambda Chi Doug Followell and Gillum's Chico Ruiz were second and third runners-up, respectively.

Guitars, songs, and brotherhood were components of a successful campaign.

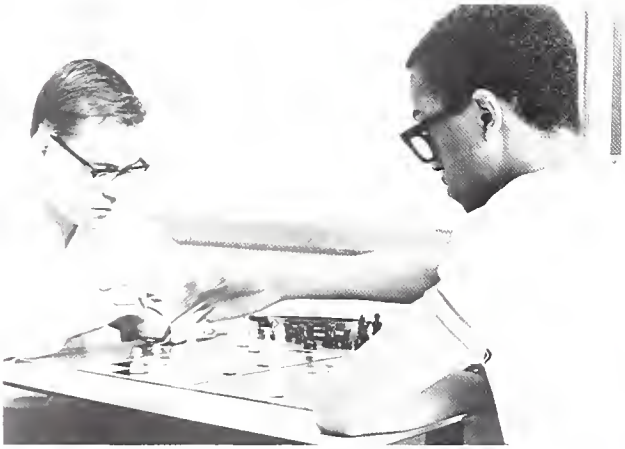
Praving that they were gaad sparts, bachelar af the year candidates ralled up their pant legs and attempted ta learn the hula.

Pasters, campaign car, Caesar—all far Doug.

Rude Inman smiled triumphantly as the audience applauded.

Hootenanies brought falksinging to the Quad.

In Shakespearian Garb, an actar relaxes after final perfarmance.



Each move required cancentratian during the Chess Taurnaments

Many ideas could be read into paintings at the art exhibit.

Culturally exciting, the fifth annual ARTS FESTIVAL brought to campus a continuous display of music, paintings, dance, drama, and literature. For two weeks, every night offered a show of Union Board-sponsored events, and Sycamores joined the public in viewing examples of many phases of creativity.

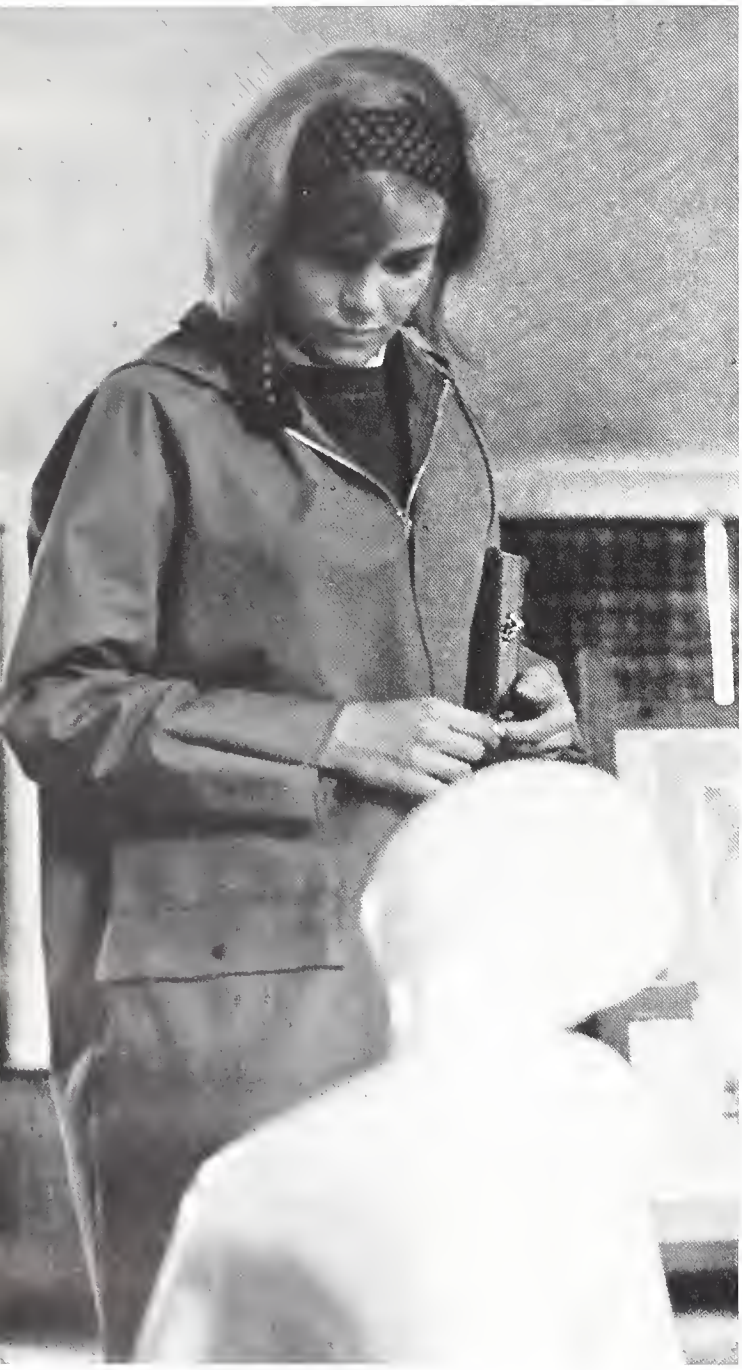
Examples of art captivated viewers of the galleries.

Artists conveyed their thoughts on canvases of oil and watercolor.

Terre Haute Symphony performed when violinist Sergei Luca was featured at the Festival.

Ferrante and Teicher enraptured a full house with alluring duets.

Pensive minds sought the meaning of distinctly shaped sculpture.



Pamphlets containing a thumbnail sketch and reviews of each event, complete with times and locations, dotted every flat surface around campus during the ARTS FESTIVAL. One highlight of the two-week experience was the presentation of the Indianapolis Symphony. This final event of the festival brought to ISU weird strains of contemporary music. The symphony opened seven rehearsals to the public, thereby enabling many to hear the new music forms.

The Notionol Shakespeore Compony presented "Much Ado About Nothing."

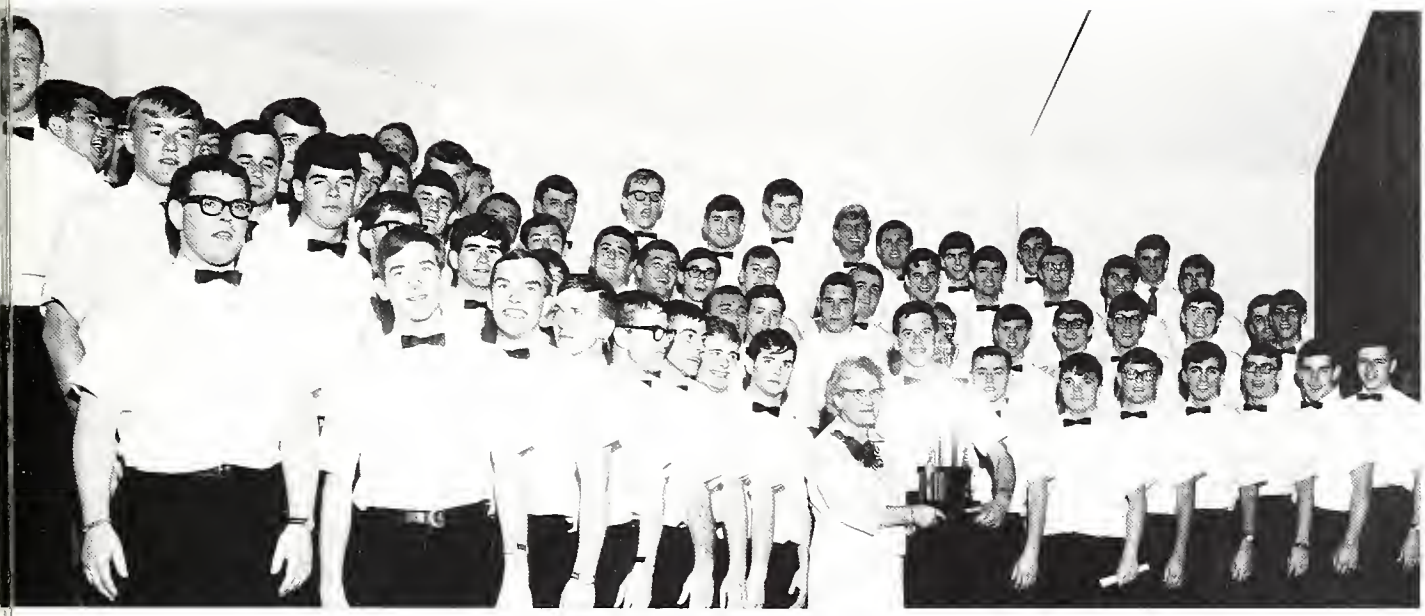
A bollerino of the First Chamber Donce quortet portroys o trogic scene through shodowed movement.

Music resounded from Tilson Music Hall as Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha, music fraternities, presented the annual SONGFEST. Dormitories and social fraternities and sororities harmonized in the mass choir after each group had presented its own melody. Mrs. Ralph M. Tirey, in the Songfest tradition, assisted the policy baard in presenting winning trophies to the four jubilant victors.

Men of Hines Hall and their sweetheart accepted their trophy from Mrs. Tirey.

Women of Caleb Mills Hall placed first out of six women's dormitories.

Policy Board—C. Crites, L. Quinlan, J. Cobley, J. Norris, H. Motlock, C. Otto, P. Lark.



The gleam of their trophy caught the eyes of Sig Ep's after their victory.

Gamma Phi Beta's beamed as the first-place sorority trophy was presented.

Bob Dillon deep in thought appeared to be inspiring.

A week without classes or activities gave students a brief taste of academic freedom. Days of playing in the snow and sleeping late were regretted in the evenings as all-night cramming sessions ensued. Coffee and cigarettes became diet staples; eye drops and aspirin were daily medications. Then it was over; the pressure was gone. For a while there was nothing to do and nowhere to go but home. FINALS were over.

A student in concentration reflects the pose of a near-by statue.

Some deemed the library a prison; to some it was quiet for a nap.

The Moehlings sat near a plaque honoring their family.

Miss Gertrude Soules was third president of Alumni Association.

Mr. J. J. and Miss Hilda Moehling cut the ribbons to dedicate the new Moehling Terrace housing complex.

The torch's light of inspiration guided knowledge and truth.

ISU celebrated its 98th anniversary on FOUNDERS DAY. Mrs. Ione McConkey, president of the ISU Alumni Association, honored past presidents of the Association and presented the James C. Farmer Award stipend to Pat Gallagher, president of the senior class. The traditional Book and Torch Ceremony promoted the Living Memorial Loan Fund, set up in memory of William Wood Parsons and Howard Sandison to benefit worthy students needing financial assistance in completing their college work. A new married student housing complex, Moehling Terrace, was dedicated in recognition of the Moehling family's immeasurable contributions to the growth of ISU.

Mrs. Ione McConkey and Pat Gallagher performed the traditional Book and Torch ceremony.

Seniors all met for the first and last time since orientation.

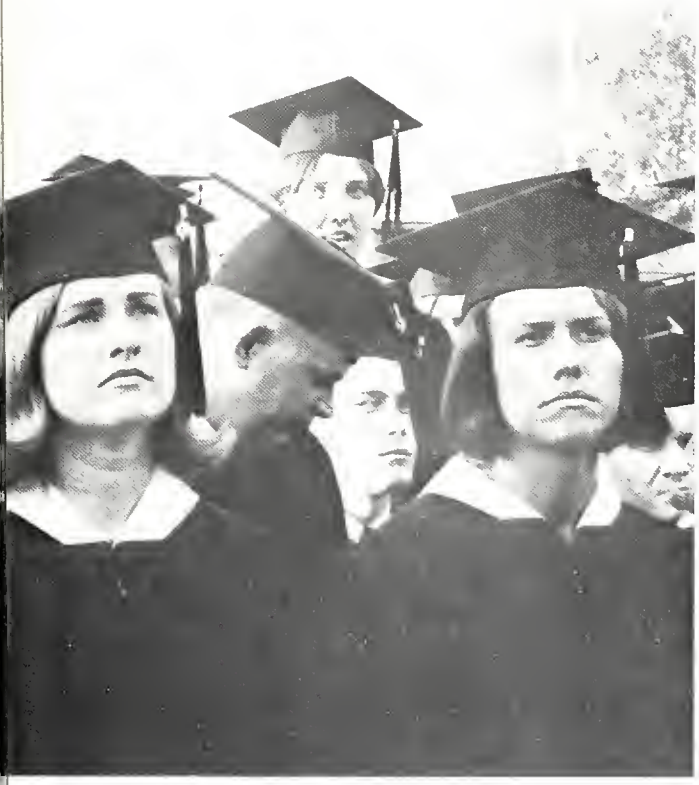
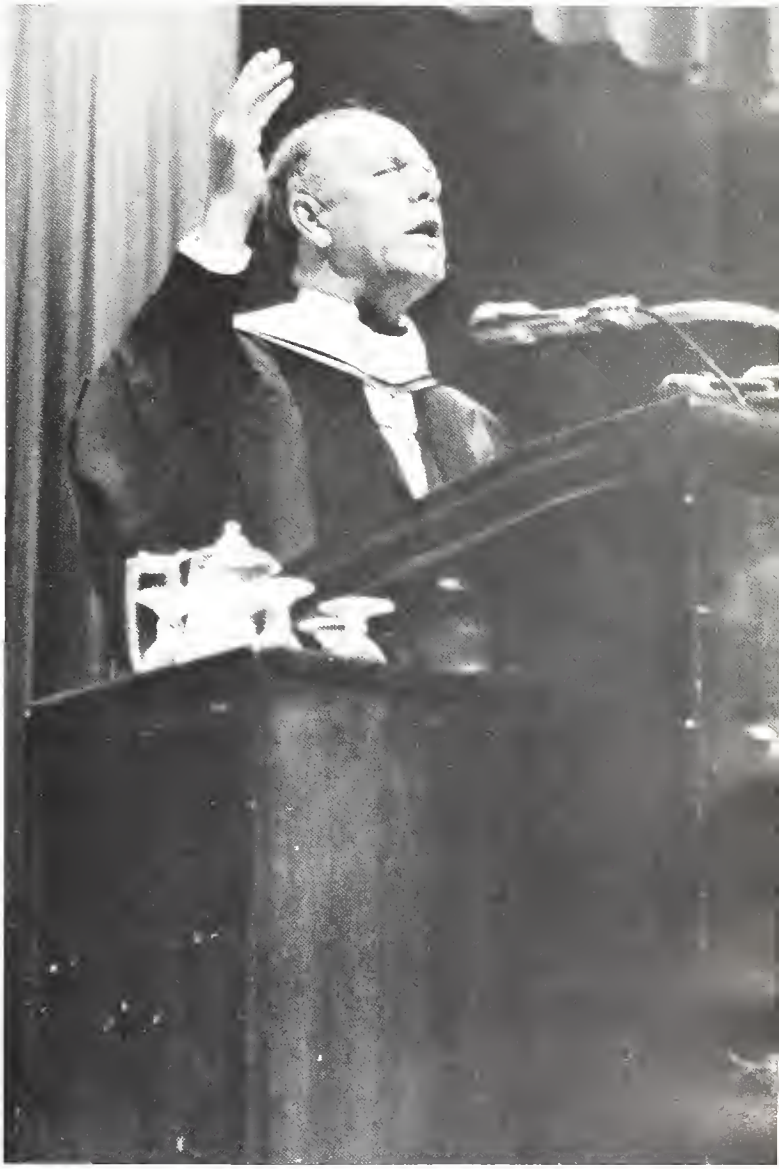
With exams over and buildings closed, the campus was deserted except for seniors who lingered on for COMMENCEMENT ceremonies. The quiet enhanced contemplative solitude, as they took last walks across the Quad to relive memories and think about tomorrow. To some, graduation was merely a relief after years of hard work. To others, eagerness to be independent was overshadowed by sentimental thoughts of friends and fun they would miss.

But the Quad on graduation day hummed as congratulations and best wishes were bestowed by proud parents and faithful friends. Their spirit restored and diplomas in hand, seniors once more turned toward the future.

Seniors looked up to an impressive host of university officials during the address.



Commencement was an end and a beginning for nostalgic seniors.



Dr. Perry Greshman of Bethany College spoke at baccalaureate.

Speakers and choir watched seniors file into baccalaureate.

"the great law of culture is:
let each become all that he was created capable of being:
expand, if possible, to his full growth;
and show himself at length
in his own shape and stature, be these what they may."

Union Board

Hub of activities at ISU was the Union Building, and planning for major events evolved in the downstairs offices as the student Union Board worked to promote a busy extra-curricular program. Sponsoring everything from weekly POETS dances to the Arts Festival, the volunteer activity steerers expanded their program to include the President's Ball and talent shows.

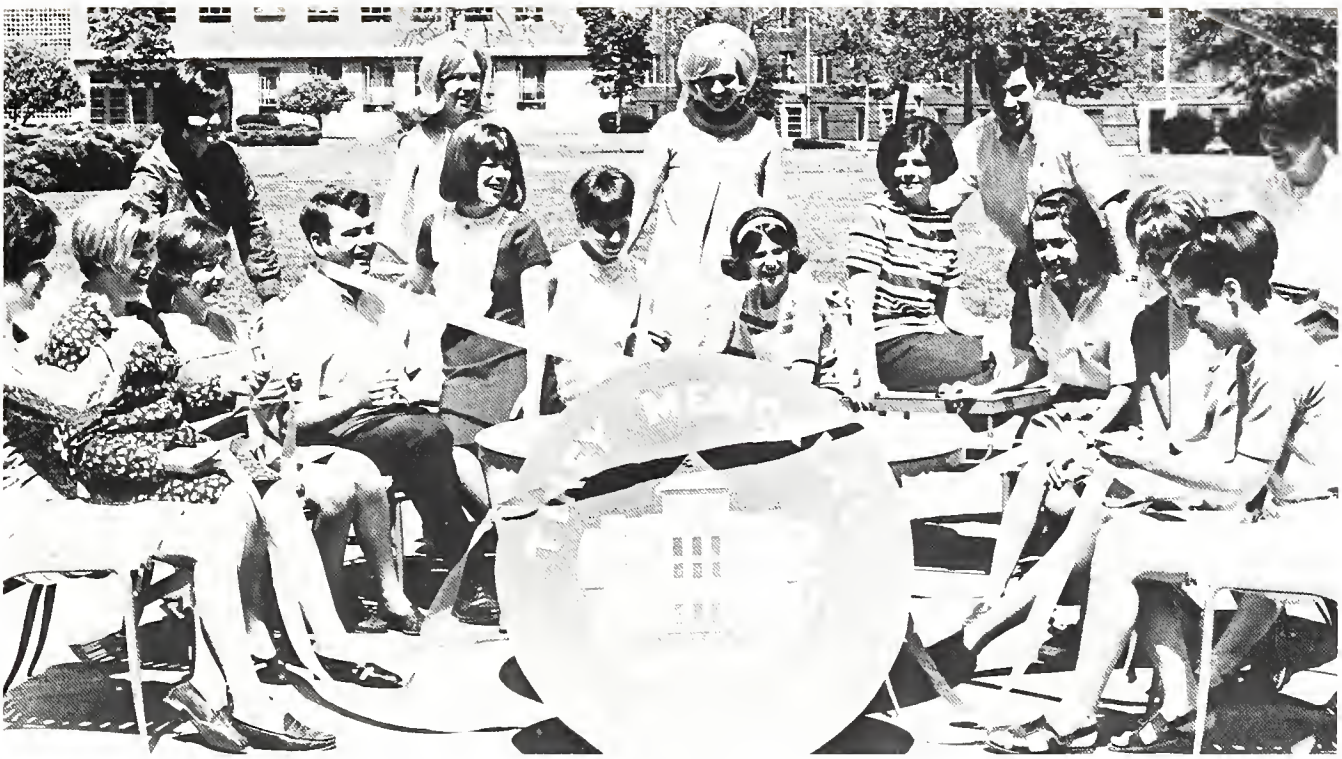
JUNIOR UNION BOARD: Front Row—D. Gettle, J. Bonness, P. Forney, P. Swalls, K. Ratliff. Back Row—K. Nilson, C. Asher, M. Freod, K. Valentine, M. Skalba, E. Kohut.



These students were tied up in knots often, being named to the Tirey Memorial Union Board.

Homecoming name talent found extra benefits at ISU, as he got a kiss from Queen Judy.

Pretty girls, and pineapple punch made Club Bamboo a success.

Women's hall association

Women's Hall Association was composed of all the women's hall officers and served as a communication line between women's halls. After strengthening their own purpose by adopting a constitution, this group strived to improve hall unity by encouraging inter-hall activities.

Women's Hall Association: Front Row-M. Borowski, J. Casper, P. Erickson, S. Hammond, D. Maurer, P. Rueter, M. Davis. Back Row-P. Cottongim, B. Conti, K. Moore, S. Klossen, L. Kimsey, P. Croven, A. Weinstein, B. Parker, N. Blacker, M. Steinhart, K. Oiler, C. Girgenti, R. Holtzclow.

Men's Hall Association: Front Row-D. Bartlow, K. Wilkinson, B. Bartlet. Back Row-Dean Edgerton, M. Ottensmyer, C. Olm, J. Meyers, R. Shumate, R. Culp, R. Grunden.

Men's Residence Hall served as an active link between all men's halls on campus. After adopting a constitution, MHA joined the National Association of College and University Residence Halls.
MHA's main project this year was planning the governmental format of the new men's residence hall.

Reeve

Last fall Reeve was converted to an all women's residence hall. This change did not prevent them from continuing to participate successfully in Campus Carnival, Homecoming, and Sangfest. Reeve rounded out their year by sending toys to an Evansville children's hospital.

Cromwell

Cromwell's hall council was streamlined to improve communications and give more responsibility to the officers. This idea worked as they added a color T.V., and stereo to the hall. By forming committees, they took action for a clean sheet service and for the provision of more phones.

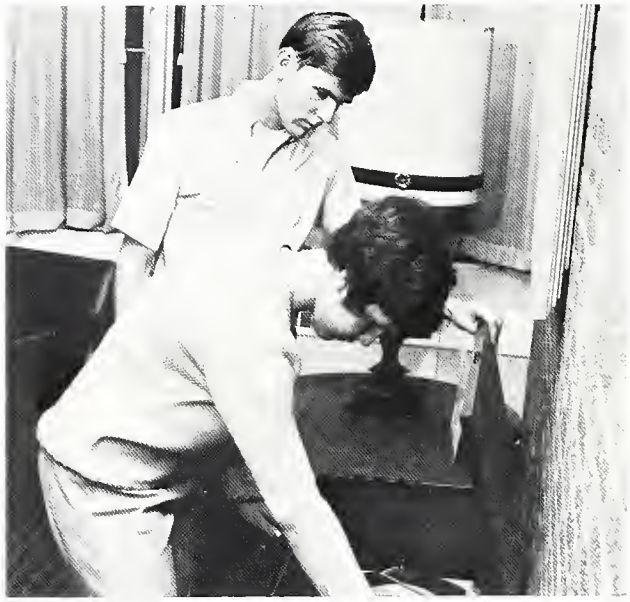
Gillum

Last year Gillum Hall put forth an enthusiastic campaign for their Bachelor of the Year Candidate. Their zeal continued throughout the year as they entertained hall mixers, participated in intramural sports, and joined in Songfest. An innovation at Gillum was the introduction of a "Hall of Fame" consisting of color portraits of all Gillum Hall directors.



Gillum Hall Council: Front Row-A. Hazlett, S. Rager, W. Frische, R. Grunden, H. Anderson, R. Moore, J. Franklin. Second Row-J. Weikel, M. Sims, R. Beathard, G. Ayers, S. Summers, R. Lewis, R. Hulman

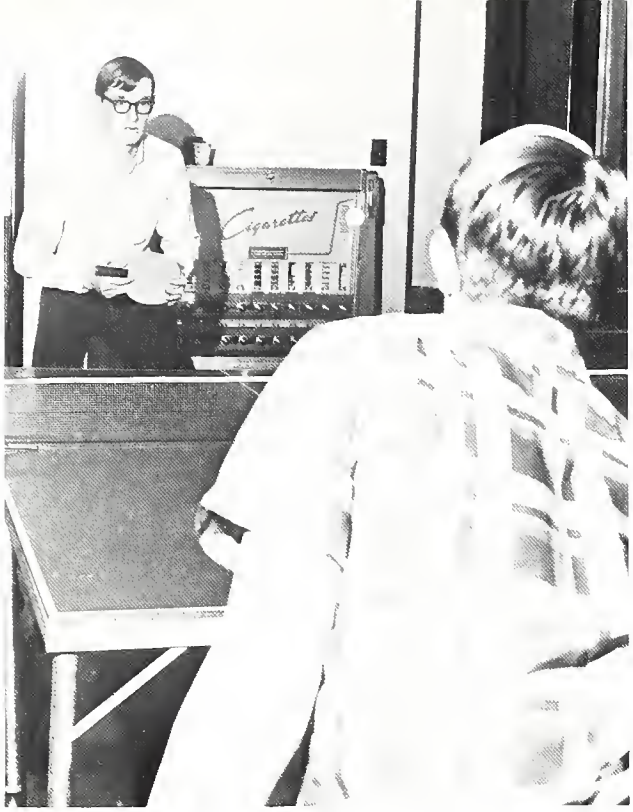
Last year renovation was the main theme at Hulman Center with the purchase of new carpeting, several kitchenettes, and two new elevators. However, social activities were not excluded as the men of Hulman Center participated in Homecoming activities by electing Terry Smith, a Reeve co-ed, as their "Little Sister" who rode with the officers in the parade.



Parsons

After having a successful booth at Campus Carnival, the men of Parsons, the oldest residence hall, joined with Erickson's women on a display for Homecoming. Parsons lead the halls in spirit by supporting their candidate for Bachelor of the year, by encouraging mixers, and by promoting a Scholarship banquet.

After the installation of a weight room,
Rhoads Hall residents competed in a decathlon contest.
This and a basketball game with Cromwell were the two major athletic events of the year.
The men also sponsored a Christmas dance,
a spring semi-formal dance, mixers, and trade dinners.

Sandison

Last year's motto for Sandison Hall was "Let's Stage a Line-In". By placing third in the homecoming lawn display, by winning the off-campus residence hall intramural trophy, and by ranking number one in scholastic average of all men's halls, the men of Sandison were able to achieve their goal.

Sandison Hall Council: Front Row-T. Daniels, C. McCordle, M. Ottensmeyer, D. Hemmersbach, R. Drury. Second Row-S. Stiefvater, C. Grelecki, J. Schechter, L. Krohn, B. Conlon, E. Fredericks, R. Tri Delt pledges held their first meeting in their beautiful suite.

A Panhellenic Tea was held to introduce rushees to Delta Delta Delta.

Delta Delta Delta

ISU was joined by a tenth National Panhellenic group, Delta Delta Delta. They announced their 44 pledges in mid-February only after many parties and interviews. Women were judged on scholarship, activities, and interest. Most of the semester was spent in organizing and learning about Greek Life. However, they did hold an openhouse and proudly displayed their suite.

This was the scene at many parties prior to interviews and pledging.

The men of Alpha Tau Omega began the year with a success as their Homecoming float received Sweepstake Honors. They continued to lead the Greeks as their candidate for Bachelor of the Year, Rude Inman, was elected, and received a second place trophy for their skit during Campus Revue. This honor they shared with the women of Delta Gamma. During Christmas the ATO's sponsored a party for underpriviledged children.

Kappa Sigma

Though they just received their charter, the men of Kappa Sigma made their name in the Greek life. They began by tieing for third with their entry in Campus Carnival and by winning a trophy for enthusiasm during Greek Week. They sponsored a candidate for Bachelor of the Year; and, for putting on skits between each Campus Revue act, they were awarded a trophy.

Tossing pennies for goldfish drew attention at Campus Carnival.

Kappa Sig's provided Campus Revue entertainment between skits.

Sigma Pi

Beginning the year by moving into a new house, the men of Sigma Pi grew in number and experience. The unforseen problems of housekeeping plus participation in all Greek activities made this school year a busy one for Sigma Pi, but the knowledge and experience gained made their efforts well worth while. The future looks bright for Sigma Pi as they continue to grow and establish new traditions.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

The men of Sigma Phi Epsilon had a very successful year in those activities in which they participated. Starting the year with a second place trophy for their Homecoming float, their success continued by placing in several Greek games. They were proud of their swimming team for winning the all-campus swimming trophy and of their basketball team for placing first in the C and B fraternity division leagues. In combining forces with the women of Gamma Phi Beta for Campus Revue, they scored again by winning trophies for dialogue, costumes, and audience response.

Sig Ep's helped promote Greek Week with their billboard.

Campus Revue made a star out of "Byron Preen."

Alpha Phi Omega

The world's largest service fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, performed many services to the ISU campus and to the Terre Haute community including Civil Defense Assistance and the March of Dimes Campaign. Other activities included building the homecoming bonfire, helping with local scout camps, and serving as hosts at the President's Ball. The brothers of Alpha Phi Omega spent approximately 600 hours in service to ISU and Terre Haute each semester.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA PLEDGES: Front Row—M. Simpsod, R. Olin, M. Golden, M. Inglert, J. Tribbett. Second Row—D. Miller, M. Potter, J. Rumbley, K. Brannon, K. Dickey, D. Ruark. Back Row—R. Farrow, R. Treber, J. Gibson, S. Whitcomb, S. Compton, T. Watson.

Blue Key

Blue Key, helping with registration and sponsoring speakers on campus, was composed of junior and senior men who had maintained a 3.0 index and had exhibited leadership qualities. Also, the Faculty Member of the Month Award was presented by the Blue Key. "Serving, I live," the motto of the Blue Key, demonstrated their eagerness to help.

The 144th chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta, National Scholastic honorary for freshmen women, was installed on the ISU campus this year. Membership requirements included enrollment in a degree course and a 3.5 scholastic average. Girls meeting these standards were chosen as charter members.

The National Panhellenic Council served as a governing body for all sororities on campus. Composed of women from each sorority, they sponsored such events as Greek Week, invited Tri Delta to colonize, gave a scholarship, recognized top scholastic chapters, encouraged activities, and took full charge of sorority rush.

Sorority women greeted rushees at their Panhellenic Party.

Panhellenic and IFC members shared in Greek Week.

The Interfraternity Council was composed of each local chapter president and two delegates. Together, they formed the governing body of fraternities on campus.
Along with Panhellenic, they helped sponsor Greek Week, and Campus Review, encourage scholarship, activities, and invite fraternities to colonize.

Fraternity men pulled for a victory during Greek Week games.

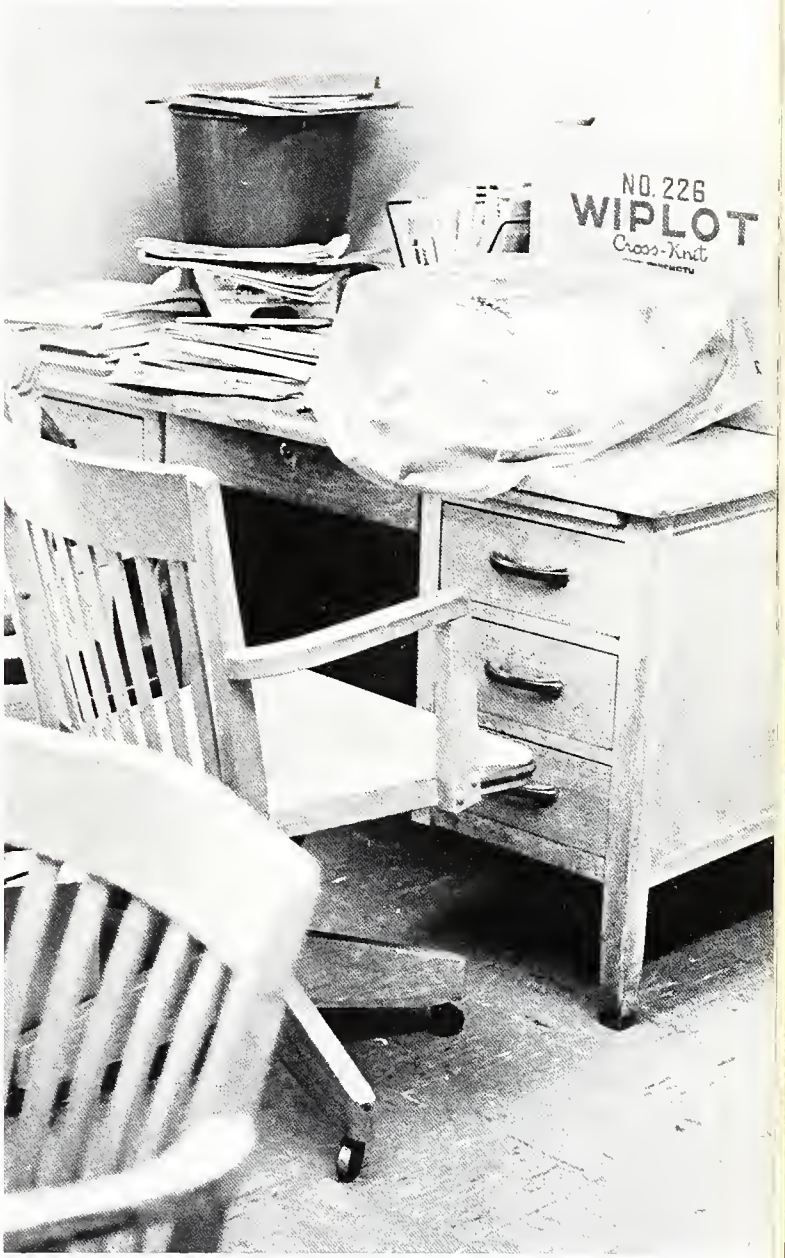
As editor second semester, Ron Culp learned to make last minute corrections.

Statesman

Serving as the campus bi-weekly newspaper, the ISU Statesman started off the year by moving into new offices. Another sign of newness was the purchase of "justowriters" which adjust the length of lines to make straight columns. With these changes the Statesman was better able to serve the students.

Proofreading never was much fun!



Piled desks kept chairs empty as staff busily prepared the paper.

SYCAMORE STAFF: Front Row—L. Klueh, H. Wallace, R. VonHarten, S. Wanninger. Second Row—S. Chapman, R. Tiefal, R. Burbrink, A. Whipple, S. Huddleston. Back Row—S. Valpert, A. Wood, T. Perkins, M. Calvin, M. Twist.

Ann Whipple served the Sycamore as business manager.

Holly Wallace served as the 1968 Sycamore Editor.

Susie VanDuyn began as events editor and was appointed 1969 editor.

The 1968 Sycamore was published under the direction of Dr. John Boyd.

Throughout the year the staff of the Sycamore scurried around their new office in "the tower" of the Union as deadlines came and went—some were met and others were not. Under the editorship of Holly Wallace, the Sycamore achieved a new high in its size and circulation. As the book neared its final deadline, somehow all of the trips up the stairs and back down seemed quite worthwhile and rewarding.

Sycamore Staff

Much time and talent were given by Dick Von Harten as photographer.

Marylynn Convin had the hectic job of indexing the Sycamore.

Steve Wanninger served as head photographer for the Sycamore.

Susan Chapman acted as copy and proof editor.

Sharon Volpert spent much time assisting the Sycamore staff.

Long days turned into even longer nights in the Sycamore Office.

The Union looked quite different from the editor's window.

Larry Klueh and Robbie Tiefol were second semester sports editors.

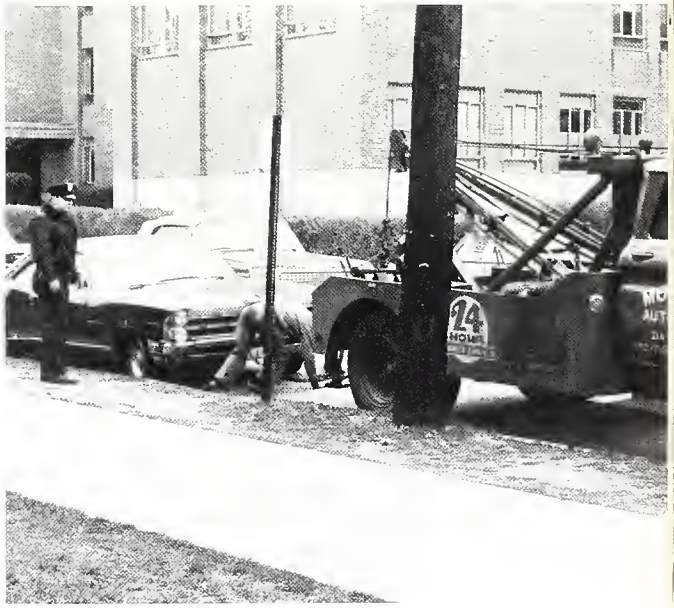
Student Government Assoc.

Student Government Association, one of the most active organizations on campus was organized to allow students the opportunity to form an organization in which the members cooperated in stimulating, encouraging, organizing, and regulating student activities. Homecoming, Group Dynamics Conference at Turkey Run, the Quiz Bowl, Master's Day, and campus elections were a few of the events they sponsored. They also worked on the new pass-fail system, a teacher-evaluation program, researched campus traffic problems, established a Student Supreme Court, and worked on a Student Bill of Rights. One of their most popular actions this year was promoting the extra days of various vacations.

Student Senators made important decisions for ISU students. The Chairman of the Senate, John Abel, lead the group.

SGA sponsored a dinner for Master's Day guests.

The Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony was SGA sponsored.

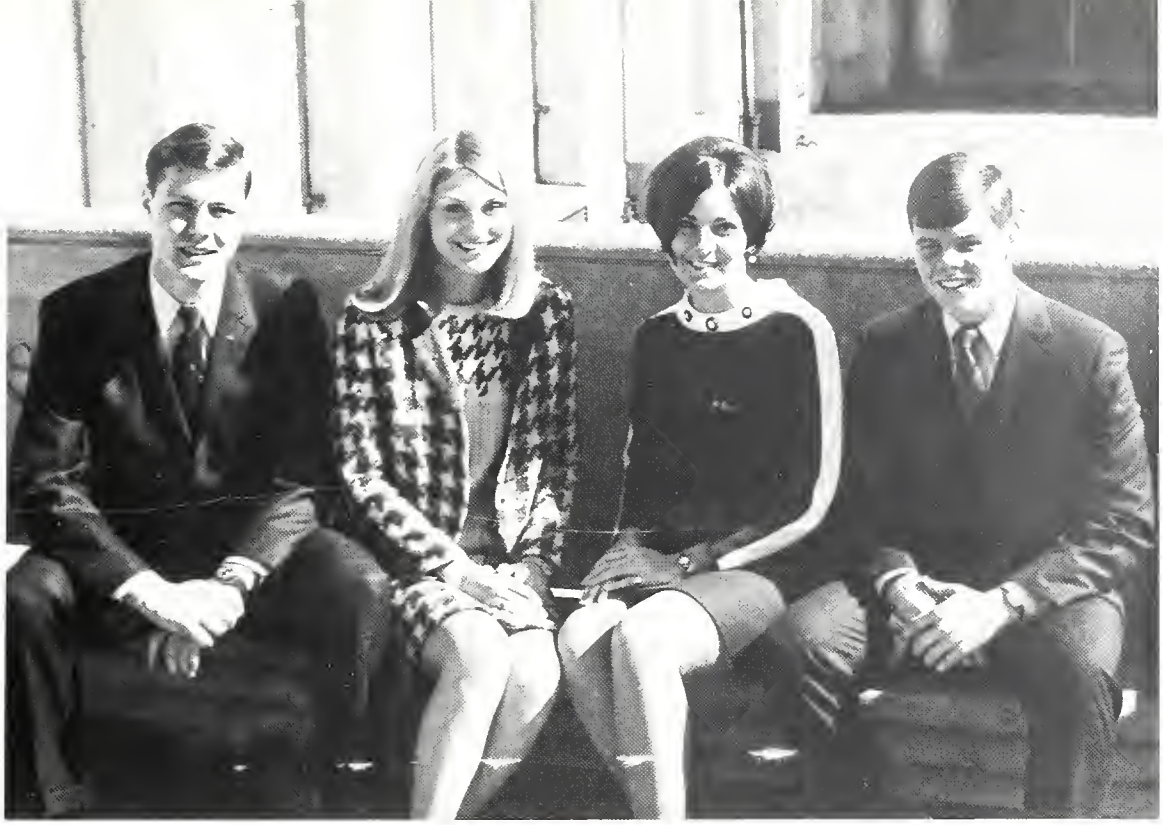


SGA investigated traffic problems on campus.

Senior Class Officers—B. Cripe, (Sec.); B. Carpenter, (Treas.); M. Copper, (V. Pres.); D. Holaday, (Pres.).

Class Officers

At Indiana State every student is member of the Student Government Associations. This organization is constitutionally the active voice of the student body, the pivotal point of student affairs. Its objectives are necessary to the proper operation of campus activities. The class councils work side by side with SGA in attaining these objectives.



Junior Class Officers—F. Shorter, (Pres.); P. Reuter, (Treas.); S. Ridgely, (Sec.); J. Howell, (V. Pres.).

Frosh-Soph Council—C. Kimbrough, (Treas.); C. Allison, (Social); L. Watson, (Sec.); H. Strong, (Pres.).

The Indiana State gridiron squad compiled a 6-4, 1967 record. The Sycamores got into action with victories over Eastern Illinois and Butler. After a loss at the hands of non-conference foe, Northern Illinois, the Blue and White bounced back to defeat St. Joseph, Valparaiso and Evansville. Following defeats by Ball State, DePauw and Western Illinois, Indiana State completed the season with a victory over Tampa University. Head Coach Jerry Huntsman, summarizing the season, related "This year's team learned a lot. The fact that the competition was rougher and the younger boys gained a year of experience, next year's squad should be tougher."

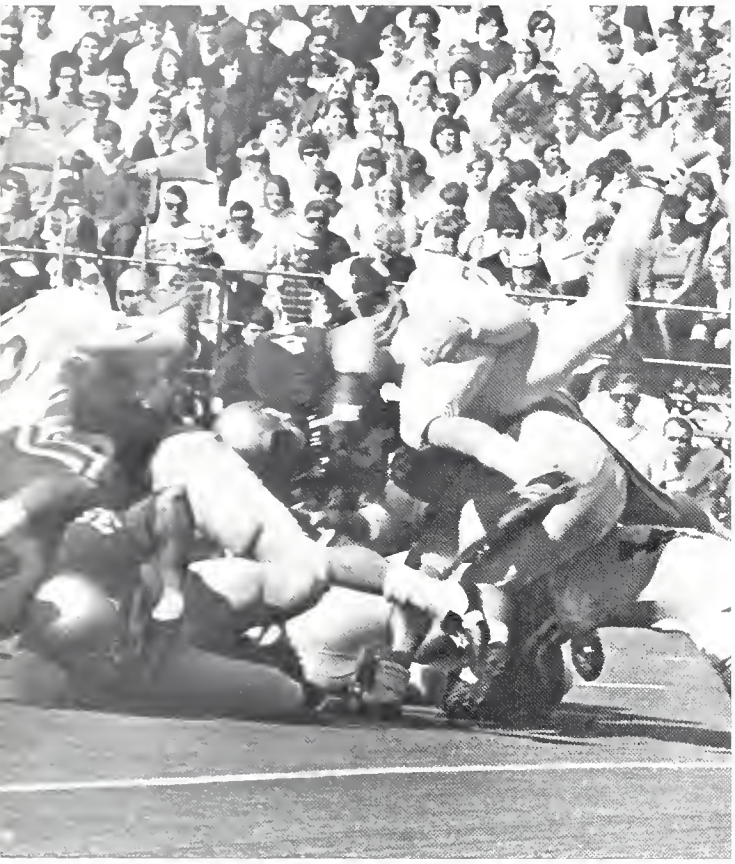
Rondy Poyne scrambled over the pile for the needed yardage.



Rich Galbraith goes up and over the pursuing Bulldogs.

Football 1967 climaxed as eight of the Indiana State griders were named to the All-Indiana Collegiate Conference team. Representing the Sycamores on the first team were offensive center Timon Kendall, defensive middle guard Stan Warrall, and defensive safety Rich Attanita. Second team selections from ISU on the offensive unit consisted of Dean Klink at fullback, Jim Brumfield at halfback, and Greg Matafin at left tackle. Defensive linemen Doug Starewicz and Jeff Keller landed the right tackle and right end positions respectively.

The cheerleaders projected enthusiasm to the Sycamores.

Owning a 4-2 record against league foes, Indiana State captured third place in the Indiana Collegiate Conference. The Sycamores' two losses came at the hands of Ball State and DePauw Universities, with the winning margins being a total of only five points. The game with Butler University highlighted conference play as nine thousand fans saw Indiana State down the Bulldogs for the first time in 27 contests. As a team, ISU led the conference in total offense with 2,147 yards. The defensive eleven held opponents to an average of 245.5 yards per game, second only to St. Joseph College. The Sycamores also ranked second in rushing offense and third in passing offense.

Jim Brumfield shrugged a Valpo defender and brake up the middle.

Coach Cecconi and Ron Overton discussed strategy during a game.

Terry Ogle waved jubilantly as he approached Eastern Illinois' goal line on a 74 yard punt return early in the second quarter.

After acquiring Memorial Stadium from the city of Terre Haute, Indiana State University began planning for a three-phase demolition and rebuilding of the structure. On September 16, 1967, Pres. Alan C. Rankin dedicated phase one which included the laying of Astro Turf. With the installation of the "plastic grass," Indiana State became the first university in the country to have a field of synthetic material. The surface will serve as a football and general sports activities field.

This year the cross country team was off to a good start by beginning practice a week before school began. The team found itself up against some very tough competition such as Purdue, Indiana University, Eastern Illinois, and Ball State. State finished the season with a record of four wins and five losses. The runners were paced to several victories by seniors John King and Mick Stewart. The freshman team was the Conference Champ this year, and much is expected from them in the future.

Reserved energy was maintained for the final burst of speed.

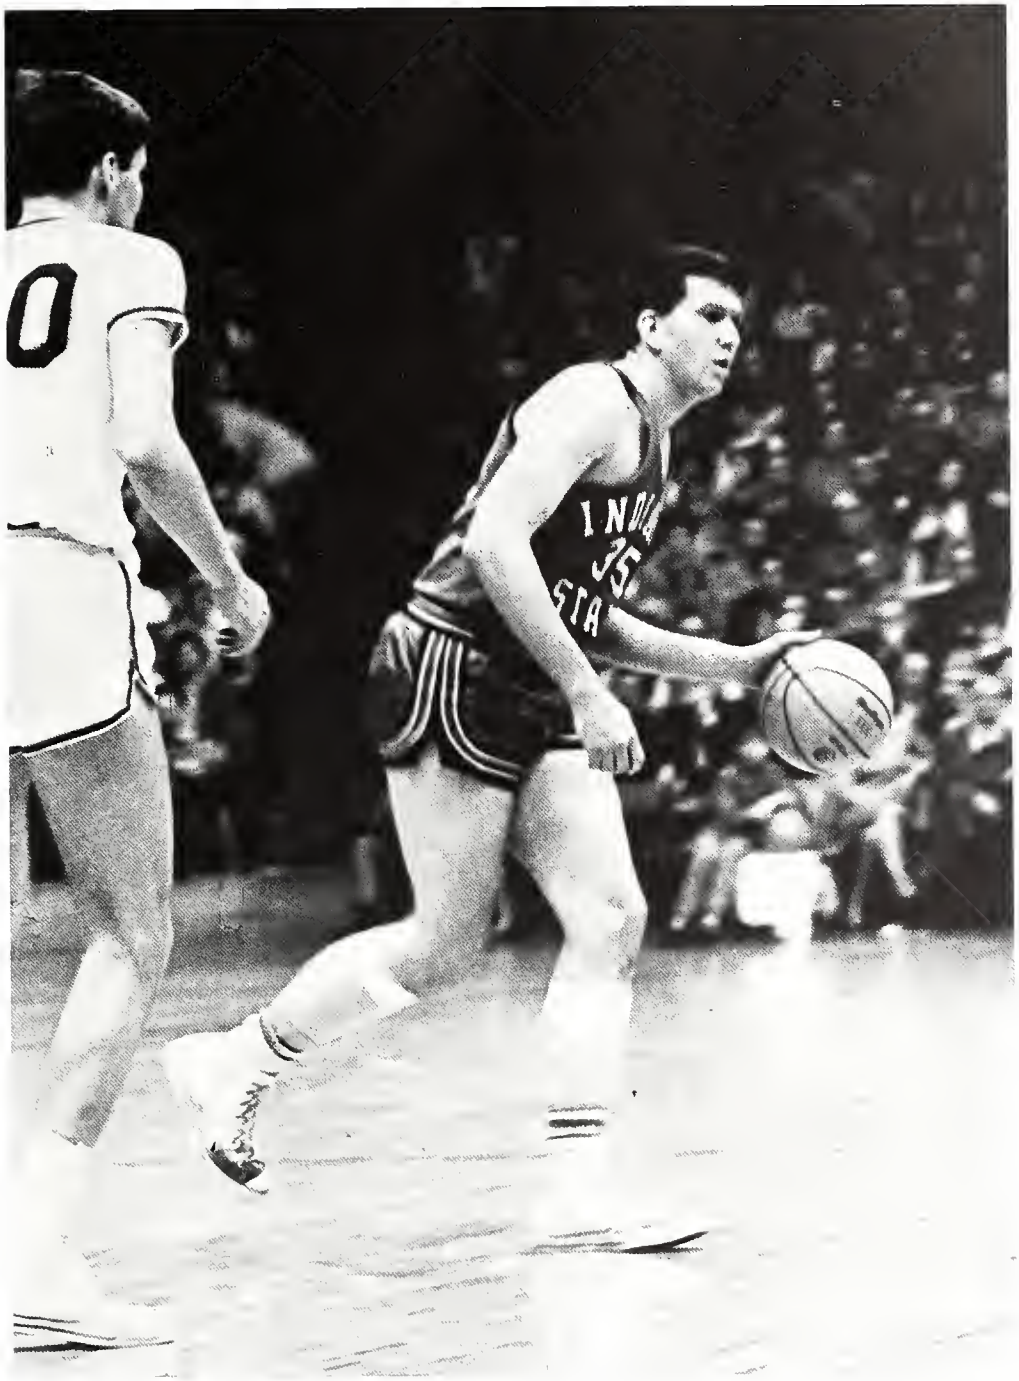
BASKETBALL TEAM: Front Row—J. Woldrip, R. Hervey, H. Humes, M. Copper (co-captain), S. Hollenbeck, D. Chitwood. Back Row—G. Stouffer (coach), F. Hardman, M. Phillips, T. Zellers, J. Newsom (co-captain), R. Mason, J. McIntire, K. Hoss, J. Novak, D. Weirich, M. Garland (assistant coach).



As the 1967-68 basketball campaign opened, the Fighting Sycamores were faced with the most rigorous schedule in the school's history. The Blue and White accepted the challenge and responded with an impressive 19-7 regular season record, including wins over highly regarded San Diego State, Southwestern Louisiana, and Evansville. When the final buzzer at the last home game sounded, ISU had tied with DePauw for the Indiana Collegiate Conference.

Indiana State University has long been known as a basketball power; and when Gordon Stauffer became head coach, he was faced with the challenge of equaling or surpassing a winning tradition. The new mentor brought a different style of basketball with him, making the Sycamores a team to watch. Under Coach Stauffer, they were watched —all the way to the NCAA finals.

President Rankin presented co-captains Newsom and Copper with the NCAA second place trophy at the arena upon their return to ISU.

After the regular season, Indiana State accepted its third consecutive NCAA tournament bid. Competing in the Great Lakes Regional, the Sycamores upset South Dakota State and host Illinois State to become regional champion. In addition, Jerry Newsom was placed on the all-tournament team. Following a send-off rally, the Blue and White left for the finals in Evansville. In the preliminary games, Indiana State downed Southern Nevada and Trinity to advance to the finals along with Kentucky Wesleyan. Although the Sycamores were defeated, "Newse" was chosen as the most valuable player and, along with Fred Hardman, was placed on the all-finals team.

Newse shoveled up and under for the last basket of his ISU career.

At a welcome home rally following the NCAA finals, fans let the Fighting Sycamores know they were still number one at ISU

In his first year at Indiana State, Coach Fred Fleetwood guided his freshmen netters to a 7-1 season record in intercollegiate competition. The single defeat came at the hands of Indiana University. In addition, the Sycamores charted an 8-0 mark against ISU intramural teams. Commenting on his team, Coach Fleetwood said, "The boys showed a lot of unity and self-discipline. They gave 100 per cent all the time—at practice as well as during the game."

Indiana State's wrestlers ended this year's season with an impressive 15-1-1 record and were ranked twelfth in the nation. Coach Sanders led the Sycamores to their third consecutive ICC Wrestling Championship as they won 8 of 9 weight classes. For the third straight year, Ted Parker and undefeated heavyweight Mike Kelly took championship titles in their respective classes.

Observing teammates, two Sycamores rested between matches.

Coach Sonder's word of encouragement gave the team that extra ounce of spirit.

Indiana State University's swim team had an outstanding season this year as they finished with an 8-3 dual meet record. The Blue and White also finished first in the Illinois State Relays. Coach Duane Barrow's finmen shattered numerous school and pool records this season. The climax of the swimming season came when the Sycamores captured the ICC Crown and, in doing so, brought home ICC Championships in all but one event.

As in past years, State's baseball team made another fine showing in ICC play, tieing with St. Joseph for second place honors.
As a team the Sycamores took the lead for stolen bases in conference games with a total of 14.
State ended the season with 13 wins and 11 losses.
Three players, Randy Miller, Mike Harlan, and Al Buell, were chosen for the All Conference team.
Still another honor went to head coach Paul Wolf as ICC Coach-of-the-Year for the second consecutive year.

Dasse (asst. coach).

Indiana State's 1967 track team won its fifth Indiana Collegiate Conference title in six years and sported a 4-1 record for dual meets. Head Coach Bob Meyne, ICC Coach-of-the-Year, and senior Mike Hanna shared the post season spotlight as keys for the Sycamore's success. At the NCAA College Division Nationals, Mike Hanna placed first in the pole vault. Following the regular season, ISU placed fourth in the Big State meet behind mighty teams from Notre Dame, Indiana University, and Purdue University.

This State broadjumper leaped high to get that needed long distance.

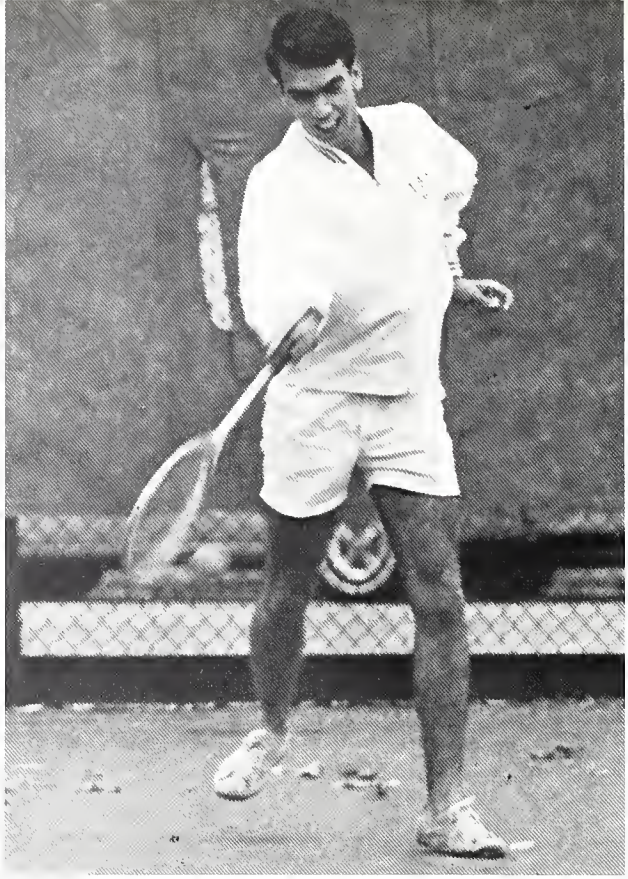
The Sycamores swept to 3 lopsided victories at the start of the season. However, Ball State gave ISU all the competition it had bargained for as the Sycamores edged over the Cardinals by a slim 11-point margin. Weightman Jim Ulrich, high jumper Elliott Williams, and quarter miler Rich Rardin, all sophomores, proved their value by assaulting school records in their first varsity season. Ulrich set school records in the javelin and discus events, and Williams topped the record in the high jump, while Rardin neared the school mark in the 440-yard dash at the end of the season. Sprinter Errol White, hurdler Larry Vaught, high jumper Pat Nixon, and triple and long jumpers Jerry Kincade and Dan Reinhard were consistent performers in the Sycamore's victories. Mike Hanna, top flight pole vaulter, became ISU's first national champion as he captured the event with a vault of 15'6". Hanna also vaulted a 16'3 ¾" for a state collegiate record and an ICC record of 16'1".

The key to a race rested many times on a good start, as exhibited by this State harrier.

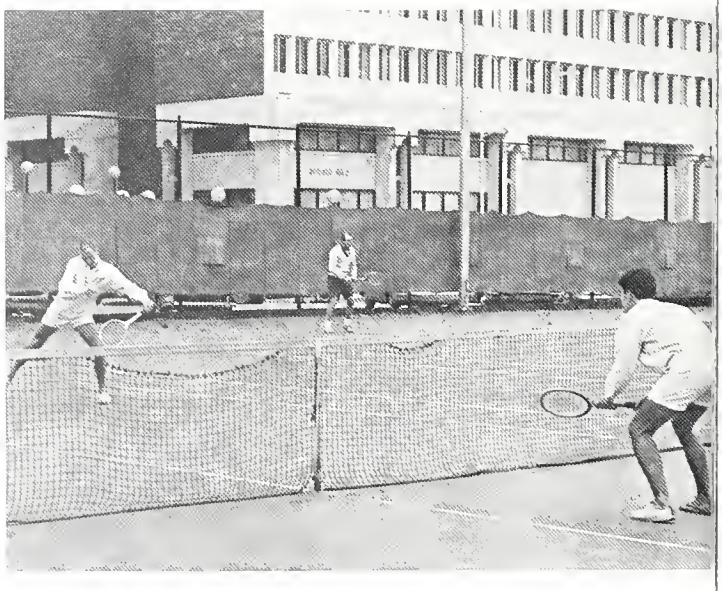
Measurement of distance was the job of this judge.

A close race made the final effort displayed by this Indiana State trackman all important.

In the most demanding season it had ever faced a nucleus of fine players enabled the tennis team to carry victories over several strong teams last year. The Sycamores finished with an overall record of five wins and ten losses. The ICC Championship Tournament at DePauw highlighted the year as ISU took third place and Darrell Johnson won the coveted number-one singles championship besides being named the Outstanding Tennis Player in the ICC conference.



Gary Hayes lunged to return his opponent's shot.



John Delaney's intent serve drove the ball down court.

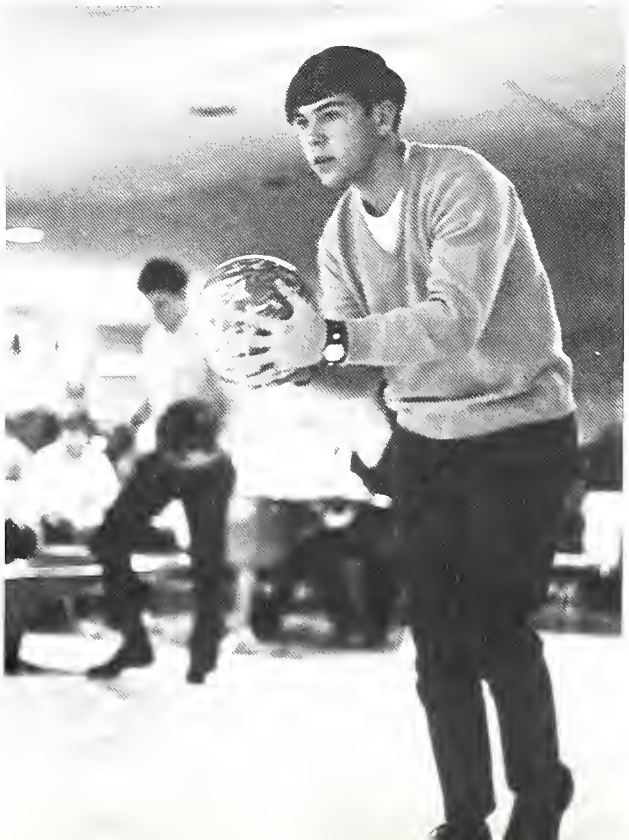
The Undergraduate Men's Intramural Sports Program provided opportunities for participation in team competition and individual achievements. This extra-curricular activity offered every student a set of moral, social, physical, and educational values. A Student Assistant System, under the direction of J. L. Wittenauer, was available to students who wished to experience leadership roles involved in the program.

Basketball offered the development of team skills.

Table tennis competition was enjoyed by many male students.

A good eye helped the bowler achieve a championship game.



Wrestling matches kept many of the boys in good physical condition.

A quick jump shot earned two points in intramural competition.

Concentration on the birdie is a must in a game of badminton.

Linda Buck was awarded the Women's Tennis Singles Championship.

Field hockey offered women rough team competition.

A quick shot took opponents by surprise.

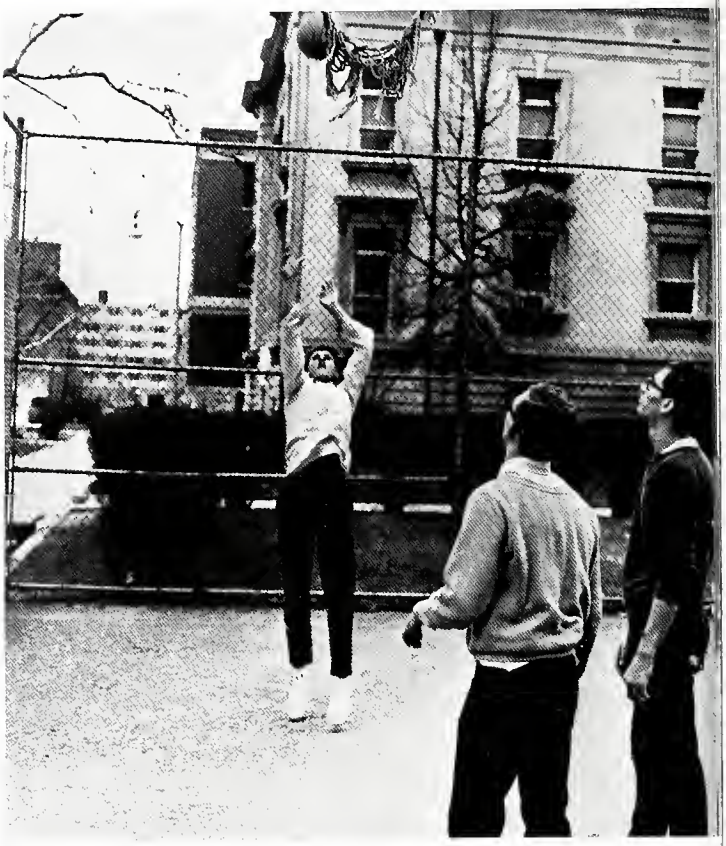
Organized intramurals were offered to all women students enrolled at I.S.U. The purpose of intramurals was to make available participation in individual and dual sports. All students interested in exercise and physical recreation were urged to utilize the facilities and opportunities offered by the women's physical education department.

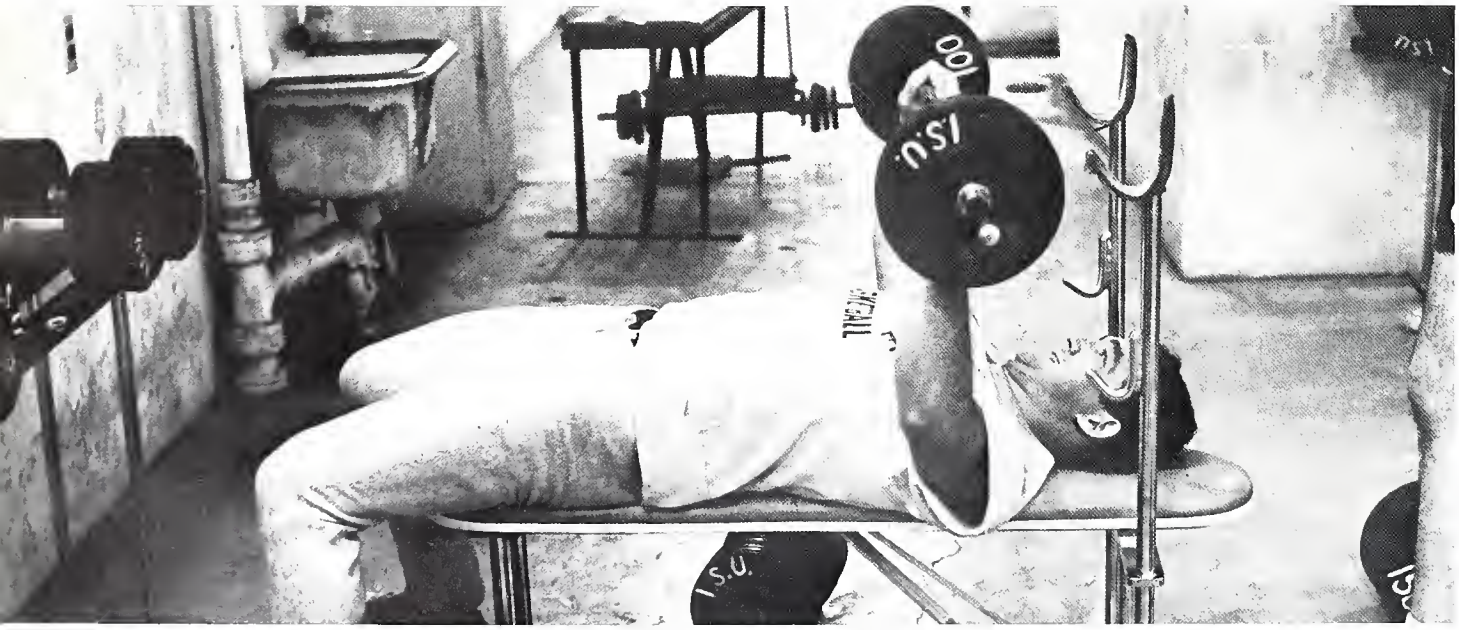
The All-University Championship in each activity is determined at the end of each season. Last fall sophomore Linda Buck was awarded the All-University Tennis Singles Championship; and Sharon Walton, a senior, captured the Free Throw Championship. The Softball Championship was won by an off-campus team, the Basketball Team Championship was awarded to Reeve.

No matter what the weather, there were always recreational opportunities available for ISU students. The Physical Education facilities were opened afternoons and evenings, daily, for swimming, weight lifting, jogging, gymnastics, and other activities when seasonal athletic events were not in progress. Sites for outdoor activities in good weather were numerous, ranging from outdoor basketball goals, tennis courts, and the Memorial Stadium golf course to the newly developed ISU Outdoor Recreation Area, offering camping on weekends, picnicing, canoeing, boating, and fishing.

Students were able to swim the year round in ISU's indoor pool.

The outdoor goals hosted many impromptu basketball games.





The basement of the Athletic Building was the scene of strenuous exercise under the weights.

Students developed new skills on the gymnastics facilities.

The living was easy at ISU's suburban recreation area.

Roller skating was introduced into the recreational program this year by the Intramural Department.

Academics

Responsibilities, pressures, and decisions were an integral part of the life of university president, Dr. Alan C. Rankin.

The President

The instigation of the design of a new campus library tapped the list of many developments of the chief administrator of Indiana State University, Pres. Alan Carson Rankin. He was also responsible for formulating a faculty commission to study university life at the regional and Evansville campuses.

To better co-ordinate their ideas and to promote efficiency, President Rankin and Mr. Baron conferred often.

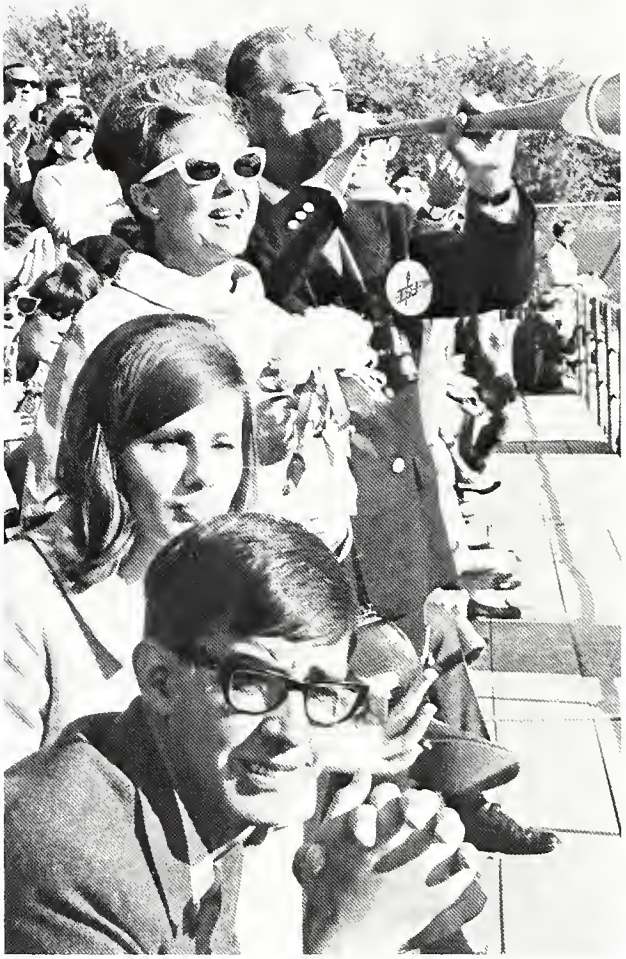
President's assistant

Aiding the President this year with his numerous special projects and new programs for student affairs was his new assistant, Mr. Richard Baron. Serving as the president's representative, Mr. Baron was called upon to convey the thoughts of the president to visiting dignitaries while acting as host at various administrative functions.

Arriving at Indiana State in August of 1967, Mr. Baron rapidly became involved in campus affairs.

President Rankin found time to orient himself with changes in the university.

President and Mrs. Ronkin participated in Yuletide festivities.



An enthusiastic glow was shown by the president of Homecoming.

Joys and sorrows were exchanged by the president and his wife in the few lonely moments they found time to share.

Restoration of Candit House was hurried for the Rankins' arrival.

Due to the efforts of Vice-President Truitt, 5,000 students received financial aid this past year.

Directing Development and Public Affairs was Dr. Wayne Schomer.

Vice-Presidents

Serving as an intrical part of the ISU's administrative system, were the university's four vice-presidents. Under the supervision of the Vice-President of Student Affairs, Dr. John Truitt, a summer orientation allowed 2800 new students to pre-register. Also intraduced under Dr. Truitt's guidance were such groups as the Blue Berets, Alpha Lambda Delta, and the Sycamore Showcase. To keep all informed of recent developments was the responsibility of Vice-President Schomer. Thus, a closer contact between students and alumni was secured.

One of the most recent developments of the Vice-President and Acting Dean of the Faculty, Dr. Charles Hardaway, was the establishment of an Academic Advisement Center. In addition, Dr. Hardaway initiated a Curricular Development Program in order that new programs and courses could be introduced to students. Managing institutional business and financial affairs was the major responsibility of Vice-President and Treasurer, J. Kenneth Moulton. The vice-president undertook such duties as budget control, residence hall management, and supervision of new construction.

A doctoral program in life science was the innovation of Vice-President Hardaway.

Vice-President Moulton aided in the development of plans for the progress of ISU.

Faculty Council
Board of Trustees

Working with the President and the Board of Trustees, the Faculty Council shared in the decision-making of the University. The twelve-manned governing body, representing the faculty, considered matters concerning curriculum patterns, revisement of the faculty constitution, and new graduate programs.

Front Row—Dr. Sharpe, Dr. Venable, Dr. Duncan, Dr. Hunt, Dr. McDaniel. Back Row—Vice-Pres. Truitt, Dr. Pitzer, Dr. Kellems, Dr. Brett, Dr. W. Bass, Pres. Rankin, Vice-Pres. Hardaway, Vice-Pres. J. Moulton, Dr. Rissler, Dr. Cleveland.

The Board of Trustees made the final decisions in all administrative matters. Using the recommendations of the Faculty Council and Administration, the board approved items concerning salaries, personnel selection, construction, and other budget expenditures during the year.

Miss Mary Jessie served as president of the Board of Trustees.

The twelve member board was appointed by the governor of Indiana.

Members of standing committees reviewed . . .

The Faculty Council was chaired by Dr. Jae T. Duncan.

Front Row: Pres. Rankin, Miss Jesse, Mr. Acher, Mr. Lamb. Back Row: Dr. Kendall, Mr. McCutchan, Mr. House.

Dean Florence Thompson expressed the need for high scholarship.

A more accurate image of his office was Dean Rodgers' goal.

Assisting the Dean of Women were Miss Ann Eppert, Miss Betty Hudson, and Mrs. Jane Diffenauer.

Student personnel services

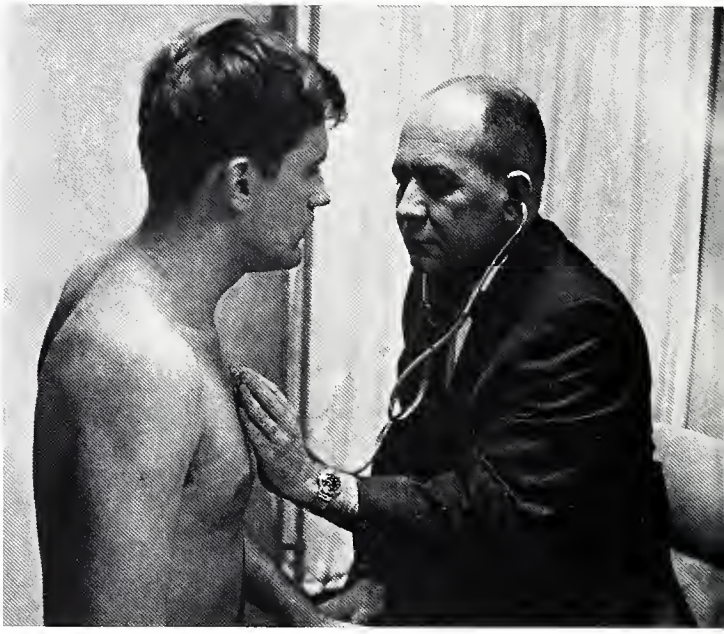
Facetious, jovial, and animated individuals as well as those bewildered, depressed and inhibited were all shown equal concern by the Dean of Men and Dean of Women. In assisting all students, the deans contributed greatly to the campus-wide framework involving the integration of extra-curricular learning with academic learning. The deans also encouraged frequent contact between the staff and students so that the existing gap could be made smaller. In addition, the deans and their assistants served as advisors to campus organizations and residence halls.

Matters pertinent to ISU were discussed in the Dean's Office.

Mr. Donald Mighell, Mr. Paul Edgerton, and Mr. Alfred Bromes advised the Dean of Men on many matters.

The Division of Student Personnel Services was kept busy this year aiding students in many facets of their campus lives. The Department of Financial Aids and Student Employment was concerned with placing students needing work who had proven themselves capable of working and maintaining their grades. Located in the Administration Building, the Student Health Service provided ISU students and faculty with the medical attention essential to treat acute, chronic, or minor illnesses. Primarily concerned with high school relationships was the Office of Admissions. Through this department, high school seniors were informed of the opportunities available to them at ISU.

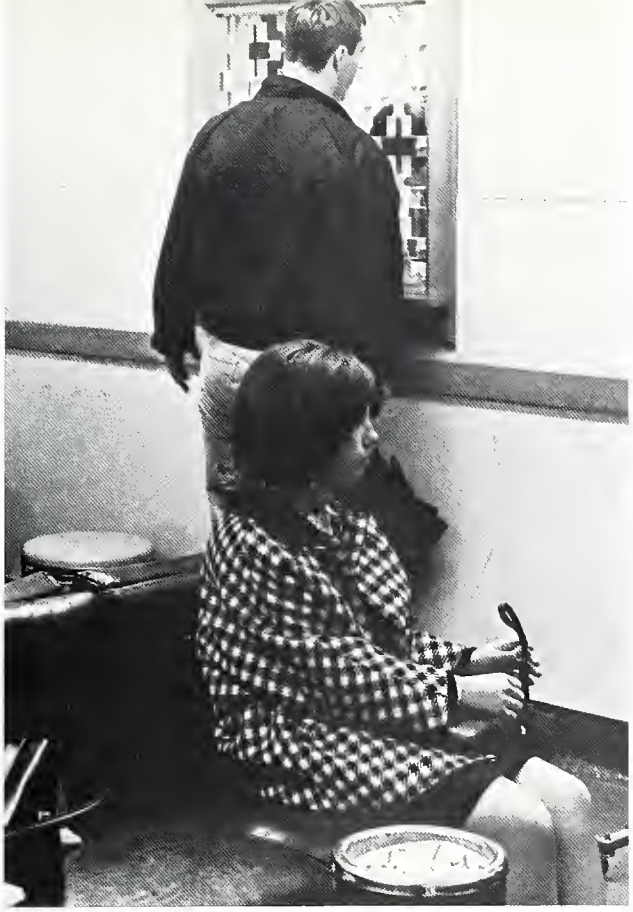
Through the efforts of the Director of Financial Aids, Mr. Mark Williams, students were able to work as they learned.



Student Health Service Director, Dr. Phillip Ensey, made certain there was a physican on hand twenty-four hours a day.

Students seeking scholarship and loan information were given assistance through the Department of Financial Aids.

Ailing students found that three good meals a day were provided to help them to a speedy recovery.



The infirmary saw a wide variety of illnesses during the year.

James Nelson, Director of Admissions, set up visitation days.

Reducing the size of the application aided freshman while the use of the computers to process them helped the administration.

As Purchasing Director, Mr. Kenneth Black handled supply needs.

Mrs. Doris Staggs, Bookstore Manager, trained her assistants.

An efficient classification system of stacking books greatly aided students with new classes.

Business management

The Division of Business Management capably handled the financial administration of ISU. Keeping the vast amount of equipment needed for University facilities on constant order was the office of Purchasing. The Indiana State Bookstore undertook to see that all books ordered by professors were obtainable when needed by students. The dispensing of funds from federal grants was handled by the Bursar and Government Contract Officer. Managing residence halls and student housing to make them a more pleasant place to live was the Housing Office. The Controller attended to the general finance.

Housing Director, Mr. Cletis Shouse, reduced housing problems.

Mr. Richard Bartan was Bursar and Government Contract Officer.

Serving as controller, Mr. William Neihart paid the bills of ISU.

Director of TMUB, Mr. George Redfearn, scheduled Union events.

Student Activities Director, Miss Linda Eldred, planned events.

"Put off everything, tomorrow's Saturday" was the cry of ISU students at the Friday night dances.

Physical Plant Director, Mr. Ralph Dinkel, procured maintenance.

Business management

The Director of Student Activities aided in planning campus-wide events. The Director of the Tirey Memorial Union Building sought to make the best utilization of available space for these student activities including dances and movies.
The Physical Plant also kept the benefits of students in mind by making available campus mail and campus telephone operations. The welfare of students was also a concern of the Department of Safety and Security. Under this department, full time police investigation was accessible.

Mr. George Kern served as Safety and Security Director.

Campus Police made sure that all vehicles were properly parked.

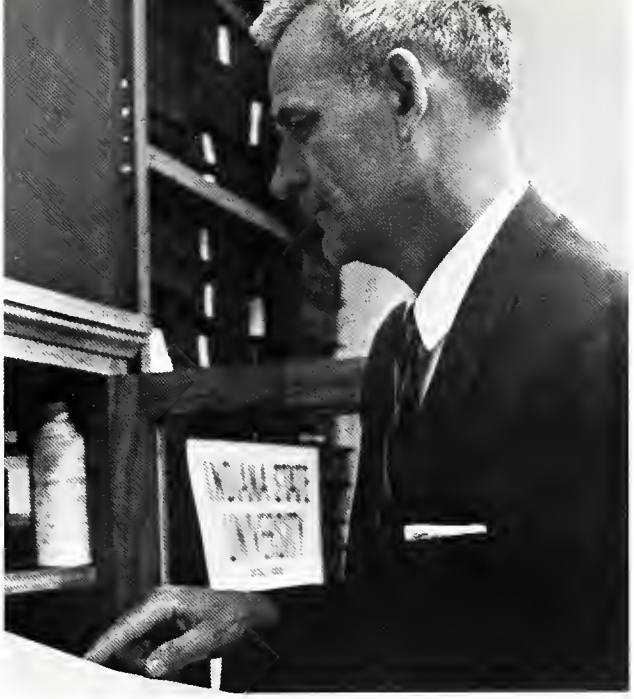
ISU Foundation Director, Mr. Carl Parks, handled finances.

Public and professional services

Working within the Division of Development and Public Affairs were five offices. Formed as an independent corporation to promote educational purposes at Indiana State, the ISU Foundation collected and administered money in the form of gifts for projects at the University. The Bureau of Placement helped students prepare for a career through vocational counseling and occupational information. Student interviews were arranged for university seniors with various representatives.

Placement Bureau Director, Mr. Al Harding, was a senior's pal.

Student interviews were often held in modern interviewing cubicles.



Director Joseph Kish in Information Services handled publicity.

ISU alumni were kept informed of campus events by Mr. Dale McKee.

Mr. Richard Laughlin was Director of Conferences and Exhibits.

The objectives of the ISU Alumni Office were to interest, inform, and involve alumni in the programs of ISU. All general publicity concerning the University was handled by the Office of Information Services. In addition, the office of Conferences and Exhibits arranged for and scheduled all the conferences throughout the campus.

Dr. James Ringer, Registrar, directed student enrollment.

Mrs. Lois Burdick was Acting Director of Extended Services.

Mr. Darold Rude served as Acting Director of the Library.

Mr. Frederick Rothwell headed the Industrial Research office.

The office of the Registrar kept past and previous records of all students enrolled at ISU.
Co-ordinating plans for non-credit courses was one of the functions of the office of Extended Services.
The Library's prime concern was the planning of a new science division.
The Industrial Research Office assisted area industries which had need of their services.

Students were rarely aware of the duties of the administration.

Director of the Computer Center, Mr. Willord Jorchow (right) sow thot tests were properly groded.

One function of the Computer Center was to process records and files thus producing reports and documents useful to students and staff of ISU.
Equally important
was the recording function of the center where faculty and graduate students were aided in performing research where computers could be used.
The Audio-Visual Center assisted faculty and students in classroom presentation by making available various types of audio-visual materials and equipment. In addition, instruction on the selection of films, filmstrips, and slides was provided to stimulate classroom interest.

Mr. Russell McDougal capably directed the Audio-Visual Center.

Supplied with a large film library, the A-V Center benefitted faculty, students, and staff.

Serving as the center of the Evansville campus, this classroom building proved a busy spot for all.

Remembrances of days gone by were difficult to find on the campus.

Lectures were no different at Evansville than at Terre Haute.

Dr. David L. Rice, as Dean of the Evansville campus, supervised campus-wide activities.

Student participation enhanced the objectives of the professor.

The Indiana State University campus at Evansville, Indiana was also expanding its facilities and programs. Enrollment this year reached 992. To alleviate overcrowding, a new classroom building was planned.
The campus allowed students living nearby to begin their college educations conserving both time and money.
The Evansville campus was thus a true example of ISU's goal for growth and advancement.

ISU/E

Graduate School

Graduate programs were offered to meet virtually all requirements for the various teaching certificates in Indiana. In addition, increasing numbers of rather highly-specialized, non-teaching programs were offered, such as criminology, recreation, and student personnel services in higher education. In all, twenty-nine Master of Arts and Master of Science degree programs were offered by the various departments, in addition to three Ph.D. programs.

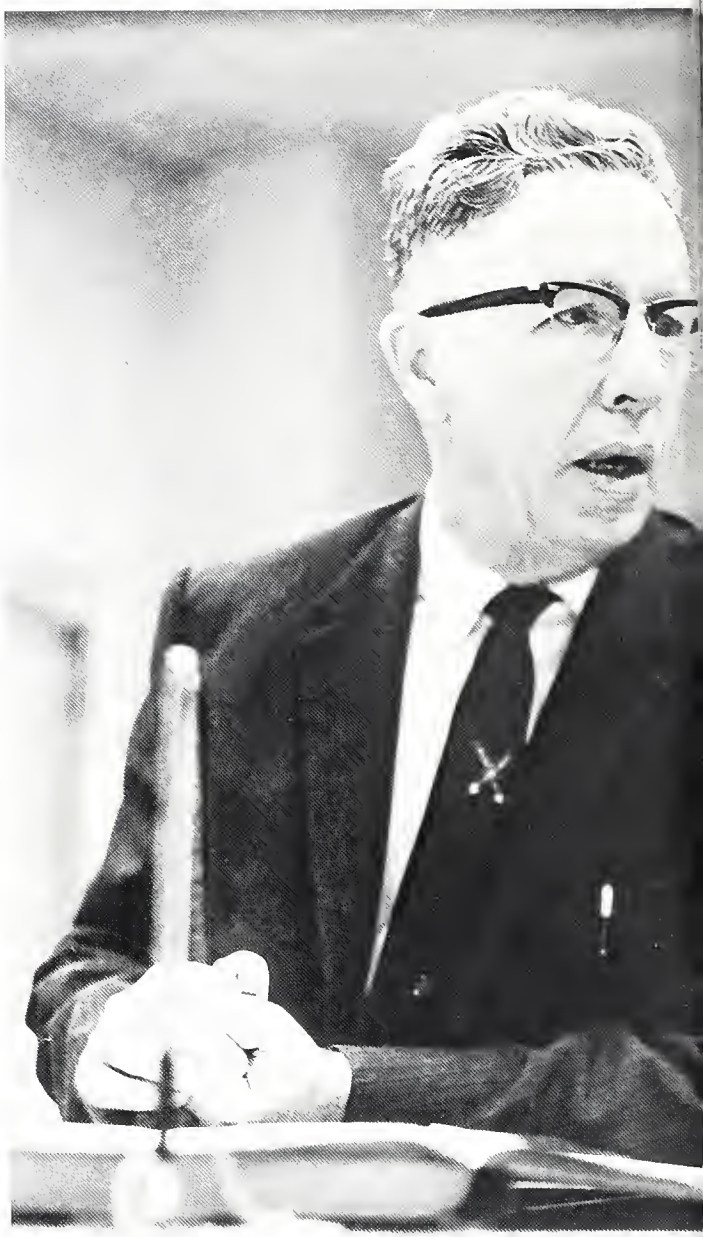
Dr. Jacob E. Cabb has been Dean of the Graduate School since 1964.

Graduate students took time to exchange thoughts after many hours of teaching and studying.

The job of keeping the files in the Graduate School up to date proved to be a monumental task which required maximum efficiency.

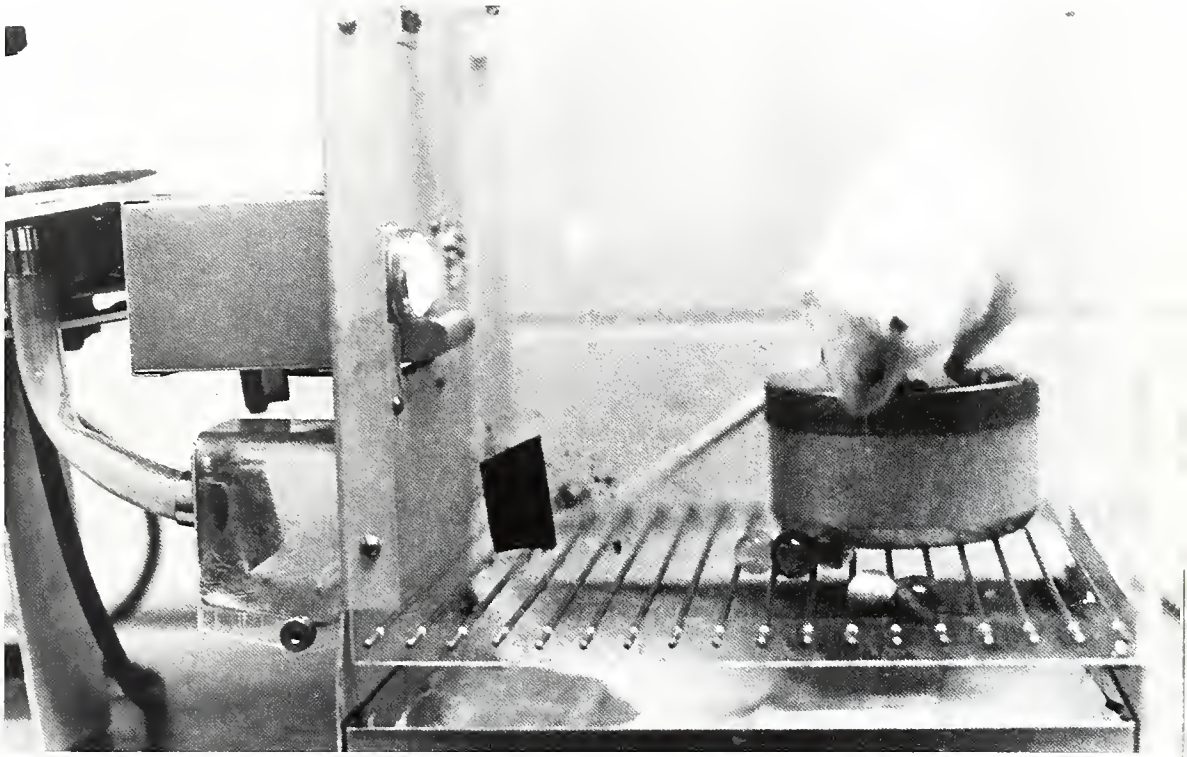
Dean Cobb has been ably assisted by Dr. Mary Ann Carroll.

Graduate students often sought assistance.



Dean Richard Gemmecke headed the College of Arts and Sciences.

Administrators in the College of Arts and Sciences concerned themselves with expansions and advancements in various departments. New courses such as World Religion and the History of Western Religions were offered in the humanities department, while a foreign language teaching major in Russian was made available. To gain experience, selected students in the criminology department worked at the Federal Prison. Also the art department acquired a new building.



Arts and Sciences

School of Arts and Sciences

Art Department

The art department at ISU continued to offer its many interesting and varied courses. Obtaining a new annex building for instruction in ceramics, sculpture, and painting was the greatest achievement for the art department, which was under the chairmanship of Dr. Elmer Porter.

KAPPA PI: Front Row—H. Wallace, K. Dowalt, C. Gorrell, M. Murphy. Back Row—M. Whitaker, C. Meister, K. Seward, A. Haag, J. Cook, A. Taylor.

Kappa Pi is an International Collegiate Art Honorary Fraternity for both men and women. Members must have a grade point average of 3.0 in art and a cummulative index of 2.0. It was formed to promote interest in art, to raise the standards of artistic work, to stimulate higher scholarship, and to recognize potential and professional ability.

English Department

The English department continued to grow in numbers directed by Dr. George Smock, head of the department. Although no new courses were offered this year, those introduced last year were successfully continued.

ALPHA PHI GAMMA: Front Row—L. Kleuh, R. Culp, S. Wanninger. Back Row—R. Tiefel, S. VanDuyn, R Burbrink, H Wallace, M. Jasiewicz, M. Twist.

Alpha Phi Gamma

Alpha Phi Gamma, an honorary co-educational journalistic fraternity, was organized to recognize individual ability and achievements in journalism. This year they hosted the Wabash Valley Press Conference for high school journalists in the western part of Indiana. Membership was open to students who had served on staffs of school publications.

Foreign Language Department

Inaugurating instructors from native lands outlined the major improvements of the foreign language department headed by Dr. Curcio. Petitioning toward a new masters program and an ultimate Ph.D. program lead the future developments for students in foreign language. This year a greater number of students participated in the summer program held abroad in various European countries.

Eta Sigma Phi

In order to obtain membership in Eta Sigma Phi, one must have an index of 3.25 in the classical languages and a cumulative index of 2.75. The high standards set by this honorary fraternity are further emphasized by their promoting interest in the history, art, and literature of ancient Greece and Rome.

Werner.

School of Technology

Maintaining its status as one of the largest departments at State, the industrial education department continued its progress by receiving the status of School of Technology. The newly formed "Orchestrated Systems" program allowed for wider experimentation with industrial processes. In addition, several workshops sponsored by Indiana State University allowed for exploration into the field of industrial education. A teacher's fellowship program also allowed for the expansion of the graduate enrollment for secondary teaching.

Epsilon Pi Tau

Epsilon Pi Tau, the international honorary of industrial education, emphasized the values of skill, social proficiency, and research. Members must have a 3.0 grade point average in I.E. subjects and an overall of 2.5. Laureate citations were given to 27 recipients.

Industrial Education Club

The Industrial Education Club was open to all industrial education majors. The organization's purpose was to help its members develop leadership qualities and to provide them the chance to become better acquainted with the specific phases of education which intersted them. The club took field trips to factories once a month and visited a printing corporation.

Library Science

Initial steps of accreditation were taken by the library science department for a Masters of Library Science degree. In two years time, this graduate program will be completed and available for all graduate students seeking a professional degree.

Alpha Beta Alpha

Alpha Beta Alpha is open to students enrolled in library science or planning to take such courses. It was organized to further the professional knowledge of its members, to serve as a recruiting agency, and to promote fellowship between students and librarians.

Doctor Moore, chairman of the mathematics department, helped improve the department by increasing the curriculums and improving the library of algebra, the analysis, and computer sciences. These changes were the major advancements of the mathematics department. However, for the first time, the department instituted candidates for the Ph.D. program in math education.

Mathematics Department

PI MU EPSILON: Front Row—J. Sharpe, A. Rupar, S. Venable, N. Stone, L. Massa. Second Row—T. Tomlinson, R. Heber, M. Tashima, B. Starns. Third Row—J. McBride, A. Tweedy, L. Salsman, J. Starns. Fourth Row—J. Pettilrew, R. Pethtel, J. Harbaugh, B. Stringer. Back Row—R. Kellems, T. Pitts.

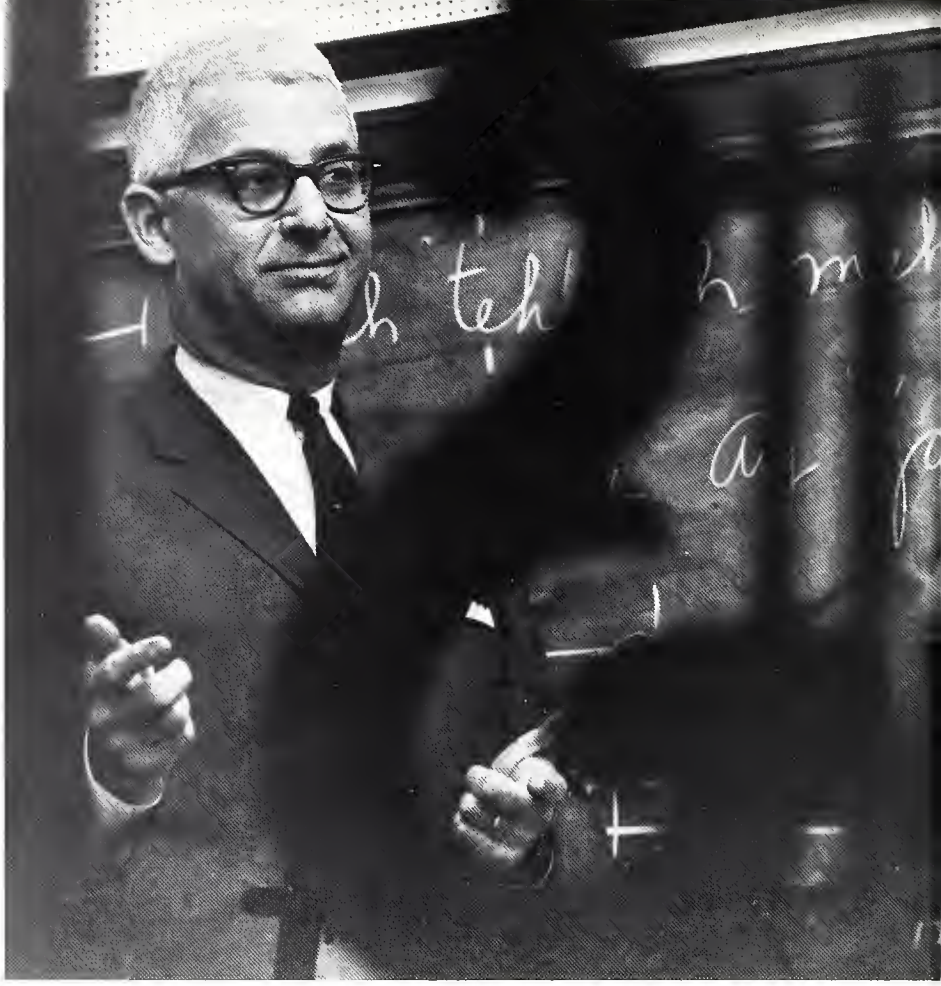
Pi Mu Epsilon

Membership to Pi Mu Epsilon, national math honorary, was open to sophomores with a 4.0 math index, juniors and seniors with a 3.5 math index, and members of the faculty. Although this was just the second year for Pi Mu Epsilon on Indiana State's campus, they received an enthusiastic response from the students and have done much to encourage the study of mathematics.

Under the direction of Doctor Bass, the philosophy department had four full-time instructors and one part-time instructor. The twenty-five courses offered enabled many students to complete in two years a major in philosophy toward a liberal arts degree. These courses ranged from ethics, oesthetics, and logic to contemporary philosophy, philosophy of religion, and Plato. Students in many of the courses studied readings in philosophy.

Philosophy Department

Music Department



The music department was a continually growing department, and this year a new resident woodwind quartet was formed within the department, along with a resident string quartet. The music department is under the direction of Doctor Barnes who expertly guided the department as for the second consecutive year a Rockefeller Grant with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra was obtained.

Terre Haute Symphony

Opening the winter season with its annual winter concert in January, the Symphonic Band presented a program consisting of selections from Bach to Mancini. Directed by George M. Graesch, the eighty-five member band also participated in an Educational Concert Tour in April by playing for schools in Northern Indiana.

Symphonic Band

The Terre Haute Symphony played four concerts this year featuring outstanding guest artists. In January the Symphony presented a "Pop" Concert with selection's requested by the audience, and in March ISU music faculty members demonstrated their solo artistry in a varied program.

Women's Glee Club

The Women's Glee Club, composed of non-music majors, gave three concerts throughout the year. Along with the Men's Glee Club, the Women's Glee Club presented a Christmas program in December. In January two concerts were presented, one on Founder's Day and another for the Rotary Club; and in the early spring, the Women's Glee Club toured Northern Indiana.

The Men's Glee Club, which was open for membership to any male student who was interested in singing, was kept very busy this year with a series of concerts. They started the year by having a joint Christmas program with the Women's Glee Club. This turned out to be successful, as was their concerts and tour of Northern Indiana.

Men's Glee Club

Dr. Hopp directed the growing science department.

Science Department

The science division consisted of four major departments. The new branch of the building was completed by second semester and included a science library separate from the main campus library, an atomic research center, and a science teaching center. A Ph.D. program in life science has been approved and a Master Degree can be obtained in all departments.

American Chemical Society

The purpose of the American Chemical Society, which was to offer experience in presenting technical material to its members and to promote intellectual stimulation, was carried out successfully this year through the use of filmstrips and lectures presented at monthly meetings and by way of seminars on various science subjects.

You are all things prisoners of hope seekers of silence
weavers of illusion.
Your paths are many converging for an instant
catapulting between laughter and tears.
You have dwelt in concrete palaces
where hope is a heartbeat
You have seen a thousand faces and known a few.
Be still a moment; listen for life
the eternal comedy and tragedy . . .
an instant of rest
keep true to the dream
for knowledge is power
and understanding is the reason of hope.

The force that through the green fuse drives the flower
Drives my green age; that blasts the roots of the trees
Is my destroyer.
And I am dumb to tell the crooked rose
My youth is bent by the same wintry fever.

To know what you prefer, instead of humbly saying
Amen to what the world tells you you ought to prefer, is to have kept your soul alive.

Today my heart beat 103,389 times, my blood traveled 168,000,000 miles,
I breathed 23,040 times, I inhaled 438 cubic feet of air,
I spoke 4,800 words, moved 750 major muscles, and I exercised
7,000,000 brain cells. I'm tired.

I've often thought—or tried to think—of how it would be to finally write the very last page of "The Book." But now that the work is done and the office is peaceful—despite the missed deadlines and last minute pictures—I have to smile as I think of this past year

For the staff of the 1968 Sycamore, it has been a year of new and very trying experiences in order to make a good yearbook out of the deluge of thoughts and pictures that have made this a unique year at Indiana State University. Amid the breathless prayers for an escalator, the staff has worked long and hard hours in the "penthouse" offices of the Union building.

For probably the first time we, the Sycamore staff, looked at the mighty sycamore as something more than a mere tree. We entered into the bark of a sycamore—the Witness Tree —and viewed the life around us with the intent of seeing it with the continuity and stability of the rooted sycamore. We hoped to create a concentric ring of thoughts which would carry us from spring to spring.

From myself to the staff and from the staff to those who so diligently offered physical, mental, and moral support, we thank you. To Dr. Boyd and Hester Branson, Frank Woschitz and Paragon Press, to the professors whose classes we missed and most of all to you and the year, 1968, we give you our thoughts that they may be your memories too.
